Knox Likes Good Will Cruise Idea

Commander-in-Chief Is Going to Washington From Hawaii to Hold Conferences

'No Grass Grows'

Knox Says Department Won't Waste Time in Operations

Washington, Oct. 3 (AP)—The navy gave emphasis to its two-ocean policy today with preparations for putting its Atlantic fleet on a more formidable footing, and the announcement that the commander-in-chief of the main fleet was coming here from Hawaii for conferences "on the general situation in the Pacific."

Secretary of Navy Knox contributed to the interest in the coming visit of Admiral James O. Richardson when he told a press conference yesterday that he thought a suggestion for a naval good will cruise to Australia and New Zealand was a "good idea," although there had been no decision on the subject.

Plans for establishment of "a newly organized force" in the Atlantic were disclosed late yesterday by the navy department. The squadron, to be known as "the patrol force, United States fleet," will consist of more than 125 vessels and the necessary complement of aircraft.

No Indication Given

There was no indication in navy circles whether creation of the new force had any connection with the recently negotiated mutual assistance pact between Berlin, Rome and Tokyo. An Atlantic squadron has been in existence two years, but the new organization is designed to strengthen it and unify its command.

Two other developments of the day dealt with Atlantic defenses. Secretary Knox said that his department would not "let any grass grow under our feet" in the speedy development of the Atlantic bases acquired from Britain last month. Plans for improving the first of the eight bases already were under way, he reported.

Mayor F. H. La Guardia said at a press conference that the work of the joint Canadian-American defense board had reduced the problems of New England's defense "to a minimum."

La Guardia, chairman of the American section of the board, expressed some concern about the Pacific.

Discussing problems in the Pacific yesterday, Mr. Knox said that his department had no present intention of withdrawing the marine detachment of more than 1,000 men now on duty in Shanghai.

He likewise said there were no plans for reinforcing the Asiatic fleet and that there had been no negotiations "whatever" for American use of the great British naval base at Singapore.

Only One May Work

Vichy, France, Oct. 3 (AP)—The French government in an emergency measure designed to provide equitable distribution of an inadequate supply of jobs decreed today that only one member of a family may hold gainful employment. Men at present without work are asked to take whatever jobs the government can provide, regardless of their normal trades or possessions.

Resigns Lord Presidency Of Council and War Portfolio

Tells Churchill Health Forces His Retirement—Praises Leadership; Prime Minister Applauds Work; Labor Is Given 'Break'

London, Oct. 3 (AP)—Ailing Neville Chamberlain, former prime minister under whom Britain entered the war against Germany, dropped out of the government today, and Prime Minister Churchill reshuffled his cabinet to give labor a more prominent role.

The man whose tightly-rolled umbrella came to symbolize his pre-war policy of appeasement toward totalitarian rulers, resigned both from his post as Lord President of the council, which he had held since his cabinet fell last May after the ill-fated campaign against the Germans in Norway, and from the inner war cabinet.

In quitting the political arena to return to private life, the 71-year-old Chamberlain expressed his "unshaken confidence" that under Churchill's leadership, Britain "with her allies and associates will succeed in overcoming the forces of barbarism which have reduced a great part of Europe to a condition little better than slavery."

In reply, Churchill expressed admiration for Chamberlain's aid and said, "you did all you could for victory."

Changes in Prime Minister Churchill's government, announced simultaneously, increased the size of the inner war cabinet from six to eight members, but observers who had predicted a sweeping realignment were surprised both by the limited scope of the alterations and the choice of new appointees.

The most important changes included transfer of Laborite Herbert Morrison from the supply ministry to the combined job of secretary for the home department and minister of home security, and naming of Labor Minister Ernest Bevin and Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Kingsley Wood to the important inner cabinet.

Sir John Anderson, who was minister of home security, took Chamberlain's place in the war cabinet and as Lord President of the council.

Status of 3 Unchanged
Prior to the announcement, political circles had expected that War Secretary Anthony Eden would be elevated to the post of foreign secretary, which he held before splitting with Chamberlain over appeasement in 1938, and also had forecast changes involving Minister of Information Alfred Duff Cooper and Minister of Aircraft Production Lord Beaverbrook.

Instead, Eden, Halifax, Duff Cooper and Beaverbrook were left in their respective offices.

Willkie Says U.S. May Go Bankrupt

Tells Steel Workers No Social Security Will Ever Be Paid if New Deal Wins

Gets Ovation

Youngstown Hands Out Noisy Reception During Visit

Aboard Willkie train enroute to Pittsburgh, Oct. 3 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie asserted today on a campaign tour through Ohio and Pennsylvania steel centers that if the Roosevelt administration is re-elected "no social security will ever be paid because this nation will go bankrupt."

Remember this statement "ten years from now if you make the mistake of re-electing the present administration," he told an audience in Youngstown, where he rode past a street throng which threw balloons and confetti around his car.

The Republican presidential nominee, who charged in Cleveland last night that President Roosevelt's administration was playing "politics with preparedness," said in Youngstown that a party trying to divide American citizens betrays the interests of the United States.

"Day after day, week after week, the men holding the highest positions in the New Deal party have by insinuation and innuendo sought to divide the people into classes," Willkie said.

Would Close No Minds
Willkie declared that he sought to close the mind of no man and added:

"When a man closes his mind to hearing discussion, that man is no longer an American citizen. He merely becomes a tool of somebody else."

The nominee said he wanted "to stimulate domestic economy so that the great city can move forward again instead of remaining static."

Cheering men and women who filled the 28,000 seats of Cleveland's public auditorium heard Willkie declare last night:

"I say that we are now exposed to the aggressors because of the political theories and the political ambitions of a few men. We are not prepared and we are not getting prepared."

The Republican presidential, interrupted time after time by applause, described the defense job as "appalling in magnitude" and offered this program if he is elected:

Aid to Great Britain "even if it means the sacrifice of some speed in building up our own air fleet;"

Coordination of American preparedness with that of Canada; Selection of the "most experienced and the ablest men" for defense posts, using the army and navy's plans, and limiting the newcomers authority to the term of the emergency;

Asks Tax Revision
Revision of the tax and other steps "to remove every possible obstacle that stands in the way of new investment";

Economic cooperation with Latin America, "giving these neighbors every incentive to rid themselves of the German fifth column."

"The people of America do not want war," Willkie said almost at the outset.

Neither, the candidate added, do the people want "any more international incidents" or "dramatic gestures" or "swashbuckling words."

"Until I had built up the strength of America," he said later, "I would refrain from inviting aggressive pacts against the American people."

After describing the German-Italian-Japanese pact as "aimed at the United States," Willkie declared that a survey of American military equipment shows "unpleasant facts."

It will take seven years to acquire a two-ocean navy, he said, and six years to build a second set of Panama Canal locks. The largest completely equipped army that could be put into the field today is 75,000, he continued, asserting that "all but a few of our airplanes are obsolete."

Willkie's speech followed a dinner-time parade through the Cleveland business district, where crowds jammed the streets, threw confetti, and shouted greetings.

At noon the nominee had driven (Continued on Page 21)

North London Has Mass Moving Day

Freeman Is Open To Public During Newspaper Week

Inspection of Mechanical Departments Welcomed as Phase of Paper's Service to Area

National Newspaper Week is now being observed in more than 5,000 cities and towns throughout the country and The Kingston Daily Freeman, which is participating in its observance, invites the public to inspect its plant to obtain intimate details of the operation of this newspaper.

Those desirous of visiting The Freeman may call 2200 and arrangements will be made for a inspection of the departments comprising the organization. School children must be accompanied by an adult and groups limited to 10 persons.

The Kingston Daily Freeman for 69 years has enlightened its subscribers to happenings of interest of their fellow citizens and to the affairs of the state, nation and world and the ultimate effect upon the public. Human nature demands to know what other people are doing and The Freeman has made it a business of supplying that demand.

The history of The Freeman and its predecessors in direct line reaches back a long way in the annals of Ulster county. The Daily Freeman was the natural outgrowth of the weekly Freeman, which was established in 1860. The Kingston Journal, which became a part of The Freeman, had been established earlier antedating the weekly Freeman by 20 years.

The Freeman is not taking this occasion to sing its own praises by pointing to its march of progress but instead extends a welcome to any of its more than 10,000 subscribers and to the public to see first hand the physical equipment and intricate machinery amongst the people.

Work Stoppage Threatens

New York, Oct. 3 (AP)—New York's retail liquor dealers who have been slashing prices during the last month in a local "price war" were threatened today with a work stoppage by union employees unless the "battle" was halted.

Benjamin F. Pross, general manager of the Local of Wine, Liquor and Distillery Workers Union (AFL), said he would call for the stoppage unless normal trading was resumed. Pross claimed unemployment among members of his union had reached a serious stage since the beginning of the price slashing.

Woman Gets Grand Prize

Chicago, Oct. 3 (AP)—The $3,000 grand prize of the American fashions contest and the plaudits of style experts went today to Mrs. Kathryn Bill, 30-year-old Arcadia, Calif., artist. Her creation of a four-in-one dinner suit of black crepe and gold lame was acclaimed the best of 12,491 entries last night in a nation-wide contest sponsored by the Chicago Tribune.

Crude Bomb Explodes

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 3 (AP)—A crude bomb, described by authorities as "very amateurish," exploded without damage late yesterday on the lawn of a hydro-electric sub-station in suburban Leaside.

Democratic Candidate Would Vote for War

Rye, N. Y., Oct. 3 (AP)—"If war has not been declared by the time I have been elected to congress, I will vote for war when I get there," Major Homer A. Stebbins, Democratic candidate for congress, declared last night at the reception by the Rye Business and Professional Women's Club for the Democratic and Republican candidates.

"If we are to survive as a nation we must come to the realization that we can no longer operate on Washington's neutrality policy," Stebbins said. "I feel that we should have entered the war a year ago when England did. If we had that war would have been over now. I think a coward is worse than war."

Tigers Take 2-Run Lead off Walters in First Inning

Crosley Field, Cincinnati, Oct. 3 (AP)—Cincinnati's supposedly weak-hitting Reds combed Lynnwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, Detroit ace, for four hits and two runs in the second frame today to even the score at 2-2 with the Tigers as they went into the third inning.

First Inning Score

Crosley Field, Cincinnati, Oct. 3 (AP)—Detroit's rampant Tigers, with one victory already under their belt, scored two runs off Cincinnati's mound ace, Bucky Walters, in the first inning today to get away in front in the second game of the World Series.

Bucky stirred up his own trouble, walking Dick Bartell and Bill McCosky, the first two up. Charley Gehringner played Bartell with a sizzling single to right, and McCosky scored as Greenberg hit into a fast double play.

Attendance Is Down

Crosley Field, Cincinnati, Oct. 3 (AP)—Schoolboy Rowe, the towering right-hander who has been beaten only three times this year, faced Bucky Walters on the pitching hill today as the Detroit Tigers and Cincinnati Reds collided in the second game of the 1940 World Series before a crowd of 30,000.

Surrogate Gives Sealed Verdict To Be Returned Monday in Will Case

Testimony in the will contest tried before Surrogate Harry H. Flemming and a jury Wednesday was closed yesterday and Surrogate Flemming directed that a sealed verdict be returned next Monday morning. Ida Uthoff, widow of Solomon Uthoff, late of Cherrytown, has made application for probate of the will and also contests it. She charged undue influence on the part of Mr. and Mrs. Neumann, causing the aged man to leave his property to Mrs. Neumann.

Albert Markle, named executor in the will, testified Wednesday that although he had been named as executor he made no effort to have the will offered for probate on the death of Mr. Uthoff and the present petition is made by Mrs. Uthoff.

Mrs. Uthoff charges that Mrs. Yetta Neuman and her husband, neighbors, used influence to have her leave the property and that they thereby benefitted and became the prospective owners of the 300 acre farm near Kerhonkson.

Nazi Raids Are 'Blind,' British Say

Officials Think Planes Fly at Such High Altitudes Bombing Is Without Aim

3 Girls Killed

Bomb Blasts Laundry and Kills Three Girls, Injures Four

London, Oct. 3 (AP)—Aircraft barrages so heavy as to tie up traffic marked a late afternoon attack on London by unseen German raiders today and some British quarters suggested that the Nazi air offensive may have turned to "blind" high altitude bombardment.

Anti-aircraft shell fragments fell like hail on the city.

Nazi raiders thrust at the capital through a thick haze in their fourth visit of the day, showering bombs on northwest and southeast sections.

Cabbies who in the past have plied their trade in the worst barrages refused to stir this evening.

Some British sources said that this might mark a new phase of the Luftwaffe offensive—flight above the clouds beyond anti-aircraft range, location of London by instruments of navigation and then a tripping of bomb racks.

It would be impossible with such technique to pick out objectives within the city.

After the air raid warning had been on more than an hour the mounting intensity of the barrages had turned the London haze to a glowing red. Droning motors could be heard above the roar of the guns.

Spotters Seek Cover

Roof-top spotters sought cover. The typically English muck made it impossible to see the planes or gauge the direction of the "Archies" fire.

One raider dropped his entire load of bombs in a southeast district.

Three girls were killed in a southeast section of the city by a bomb that blasted a laundry. Four others were injured seriously.

A train which pulled out of the Euston station, northwest of the center of London, was bombed and machine-gunned while passing through a small midland town. Three persons were wounded by bullets. Railroad men said the bombs missed and did no damage.

In eastern London daylight anti-aircraft fire developed as heavily as on any recent night, residents reported.

In The Associated Press building the drumfire sounded like the "creeping" barrages of the World War.

There was a frequent "ping" on the roof, to tell that bits of shells were splattering down.

It was in the past month. London's anti-aircraft guns fired a few short bursts this afternoon during the third alert since dawn. The noise of distant airplane engines was heard but no planes were sighted.

In a midlands town a single bomber showered high explosives and incendiaries. A factory and an elementary school were hit and it was feared one or two persons were killed.

One of the Nazi bombers was downed at Hertfordbury. When the plane came down two farm hands rushed out and made prisoners of four German airmen in it.

Nazi looted bombs on 20 districts of London last night and early today, but the capital's central section had its fourth consecutive night of comparatively light raiding.

Casualties Are Few

The government said casualties throughout the country were few, and that there was no extensive damage.

British reporters continued to tell of the development of secret weapons for use against the raiders, and some sources credited a change in defensive tactics with the failure of the Germans to attack the central region in force.

RAF raiders, bucking a near gale, roared across the English Channel again to strike at German communications, at oil targets, and at "invasion ports" on the French and Belgian coasts.

(An air raid alarm sent Berliners into shelters for an hour and 12 minutes early today.)

Meanwhile, the government announced the plan to send British children abroad to escape falling bombs had been abandoned "until further notice" because of the sinking of the steamship City of Benares.

The recent loss of a number of children who were traveling in the (Continued on Page 12)

Ceilings Easily Lowered
High ceilings in an old house are easily lowered. No carpentry is necessary. Instead of wooden joists slender steel plastering channels are used. These are suspended from the joists of the old ceiling by steel rods so small that they can be twisted and tied almost like heavy wire. Large sheets of metal lath wire-tied to the steel channels—complete the framing, and the job is ready for the plasterer.

Two Records Made At Poultry Test

New York Entries Rate Among Top for Nation

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 3—Two records made at the central New York egg laying test at Horseheads, in Chemung county, rate among the top for the nation, according to R. C. Ogle of the poultry department at Cornell and supervisor of the test.

A pen of 13 single comb white Leghorns, the standard entry, from the farm of A. E. Danish of R. F. D. 4, Troy, New York, went through the entire 51 weeks of the test with all 13 birds alive. These pullets laid so well, Ogle says, that they topped the records of all entries of 70 pens and 1,400 birds at the test.

Individuals in this pen had a low score of 220 eggs to a high of 300 eggs. The 13 birds produced a total of 3,329 eggs, or an average of 256 eggs for each bird. The Danish poultry farm will receive numerous honors for this record, which came as a result of several years of poultry breeding.

This Hen Beats All
Another Rensselaer county poultryman, John Holser of R. F. D. 4, Troy, came through with a record. His single comb white Leghorn topped all individual marks for egg production of the 1,400 pullets at the central test.

This bird, entered on October 1, 1939, laid eggs consistently through out the 51 weeks of the official test and produced a total of 304 eggs. They weighed 40.9 pounds. Since the hen weighed only four and three-tenths pounds, she produced nearly ten times her own body weight in eggs.

The actual score of this bird's production, represented by points, was 327.40 points. Since one point is given for each two-ounce egg, her actual production of standard-size eggs would be equivalent to 327 eggs, Mr. Ogle points out. Numerous honors will also be awarded to Mr. Holser for this record.

The central New York test is under the supervision of the New York state college of agriculture and it affiliated with the council of American official laying tests. It is recognized nationally, and the records of these winning birds rated among the top for the nation, according to Ogle.

MODENA

Modena, N. Y., Oct. 3—The first lesson in a series of rug making, relating to dyeing material for use in braided rugs will be given by Miss Helen Olds, of New Paltz, at Mrs. Frank Black's home in Modena Friday, October 4. A business session will be held in the morning, and in order that all business may be completed during the morning so that the entire afternoon session can be devoted to the project, members are urged to be in attendance promptly at 11 o'clock. A pot-luck lunch will be served at noon. Each person interested in the project are advised to bring samples of wool and cotton material which they expect to dye. Ten pounds of material is necessary for the making of a rug, and those who do not possess weighing scales may bring their material and have it weighed at the meeting. As no printed material is available for instructions in preparations of material for rug making, all persons should provide themselves with pencil and paper for the notes Miss Olds will give them. Memberships will be renewed at the business meeting. A report has been given that at the end of the membership campaign for the current year, Modena is again awarded first place in the highest membership of units in the county. Modena unit was represented by Mrs. Harry Sutton, at the tea given in Kingston Monday.

Rally Day services will be held Sunday October 6, in the Modena Methodist Church. Sermon subject "The Church at Work in the World," the Rev. Frank A. Venable, pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hartney, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hartney and daughter, Joan, attended the Halstead-Kosto wedding in St. Peter's Church in Poughkeepsie, Sunday September 29. The reception was held at Hotel Campbell was attended by 65 guests.

Augustus Weeks is drawn on the grand jury at Kingston court, which convenes Monday October 7.

Mrs. Lester Arnold was a recent visitor in Kingston.

Mrs. Arthur Coy and Miss Gladys Coy, were among local people visiting Newburgh Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Paltridge, Phillis and Kenneth Paltridge were dinner guests of Donald Paltridge and family Sunday.

Mrs. William Hartney, Mrs. Edward Hartney and daughter, Joan, were in Newburgh Thursday.

DAILY MENUS

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
You'll be proud of this luncheon:

Bridge Foursome Luncheon
The Menu

Hot Mushroom Broth
Toasted Wafers
Crab Timbales Creamed Peas
Watermelon Pickles
Hot Rolls Currant Jam
Mocha Bisque Bettina Coffee

Crab Timbales

1½ cups crab meat
1 cup soft bread
1/3 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon minced parsley
1 tablespoon finely minced
1/4 teaspoon paprika
pimientos
1/4 teaspoon celery salt
3 eggs, beaten
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter, melted

Mix ingredients. Fill buttered individual dishes. Bake 40 minutes in a pan of hot water in a moderately slow oven—about 325 degrees. Let stand five minutes in the water after the pan has been removed from the oven. Carefully unmold onto a heated platter. Surround with creamed peas, mushroom sauce or savory tomato sauce.

Mocha Bisque Bettina

2 cups coffee beverage (rather strong)
2/3 cup milk
1 cup granulated sugar
4 egg yolks
1 tablespoon granulated gelatin
3 tablespoons cold water
4 egg whites, beaten
1 cup whipped cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup toasted shredded almonds (optional)

Heat in a double boiler until "steaming" the coffee, milk, sugar and yolks. Stir frequently. Add the salt and gelatin soaked 5 minutes in the water. Remove from the heat and stir until the gelatin has dissolved. Cool, chill until slightly thick and lightly fold in the rest of the ingredients. Chill until firm. Serve piled up in sherbet cups.

Too Many Pheasants?

Pierre, S. D. (P) — Lake Madison hunters will shoot pheasants instead of ducks this fall. When the lake dried, pheasants thrived in the dense undergrowth. The game and fish commission abandoned the refuge and invited "come and hunt."

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Drop in Pork
Frederick, Md.—The pump quit on C. Lease Bussard's farm, and Bussard climbed into the well to make repairs. Thirty feet down on a ledge he found the troublesome, mad and hungry. A 200-pound hog had crashed through the well flooring, disabling the pump. Farmhands hauled the hog out in a sling.

No Advice Wanted
Los Angeles—Men working on a pipeline couldn't understand the antics of 13 members of a rock climbing club making a practice scramble in Rubio Canyon. They carefully explained to each member he could "avoid all this climbing" by taking a trail along the canyon rim.

Babes in Arms
Kansas City—An election board deputy checking hospitals for participation in the draft October 16 contacted a maternity infirmary. "Certainly we will help," came the reply. "Our oldest man here is 21 days old." The deputy checked it off the list.

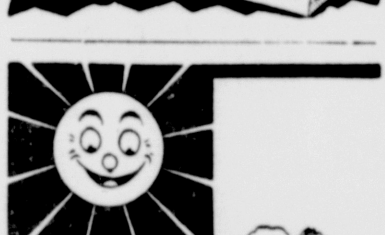

Good Turn Backfires
Scottsbluff, Neb.—Phillip Starkell's good turn boomeranged. He tried to help a woman motorist whose car was stuck in a shallow ditch. But while he pushed the car, a spinning rear wheel slammed a rock at him, breaking his leg.

It's Official—Almost
Skokie, Ill.—A few changes are in order around this village—such as: Changing the names of 28 clubs and the Chamber of Commerce, alterations in the postal guide, the telephone directory, state maps, the lettering on railroad stations and official letterheads.

For years the village was known as Niles Center, but the trustees decided this had a "hick town" connotation and have just ordered the name changed to Skokie.

Mayor Heiselman Asks Support of Home Guard Drive

Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman today endorsed the campaign being conducted by the officers of the new state guard to recruit members for the New York State Guard, to take the place of the National Guard until the 156th Field Artillery returns after its period of service.

A total of 108 volunteers are needed and the mayor stated he hopes enough men will enlist within the next few days to fill up the two companies of infantry. Men between the ages of 18 and 50 are eligible, and the enlistment period is for three years, unless sooner discharged. Duty will be confined within the State of New York.

The commanding officer will be Major Carlton S. Preston and the two captains will be John J. Schwenk and Allan L. Hanstein. The mayor emphasized the necessity for having a force of well trained men in Kingston to act should a serious emergency arise.

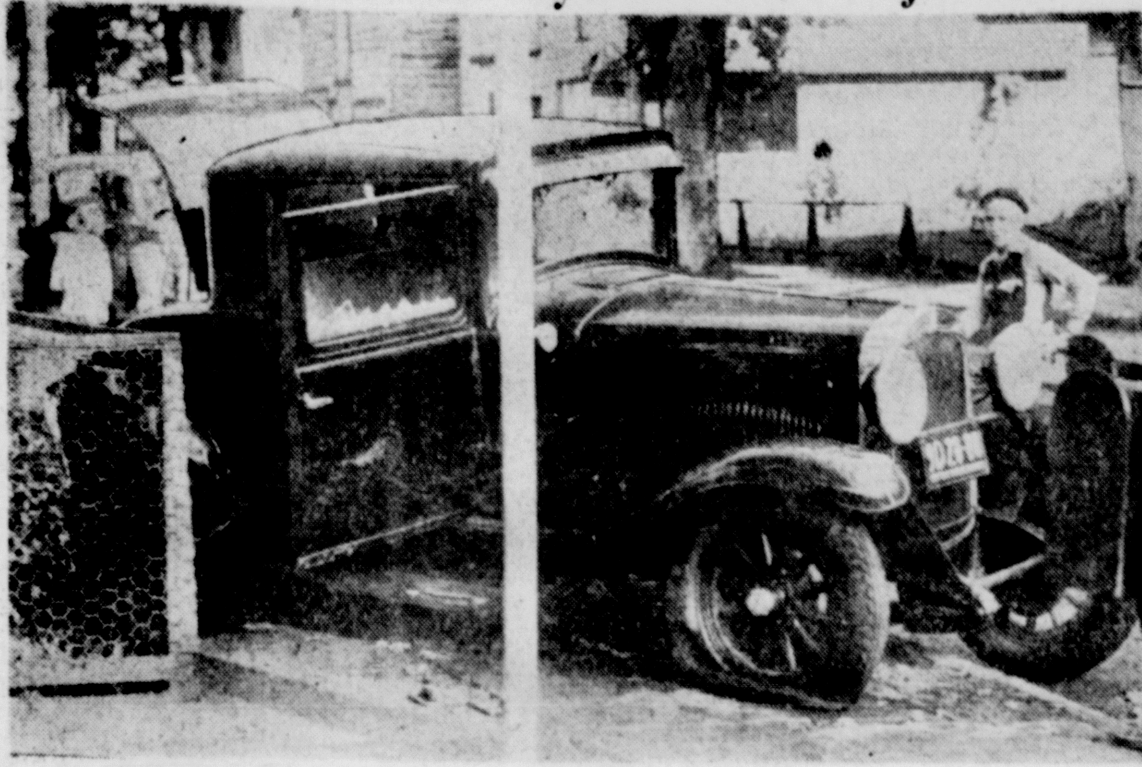

Mayor Heiselman also advised the men of conscription age to sign up with the local company, to get some military training before being conscripted. He pointed out that men with previous military training would be in line for early promotion when later sent to training camps. Promotion means higher rank and more pay.

The mayor also called attention to the excellent recreational facilities at the new armory and said that it was as fine as any men's club in the city.

An officer will be on duty each evening this week at the new armory between 7 and 9 o'clock.

The men will be enlisted after the two companies are formed and quick action is necessary as the roster is expected to be filled within a short time.

Car in Which Dykes Was Injured

Special Patrolman Andrew Dykes of 143 Prospect street, was injured seriously last night when a coupe, in which he was riding as a passenger of John Gilday, was in collision with a car driven by Sylvester Vanderzee at the intersection of Cedar and Prospect streets. Dykes was thrown through the door on the right side of the car.

Van Derzee's Case Put Off 2 Weeks; Dykes Hurt Badly

condition was still serious. He is under the care of Dr. Chester B. Van Gaasbeek, police surgeon. He suffered concussion of the brain, possible skull fracture and several broken ribs.

Case Is Adjourned

Van Derzee was arraigned this morning in police court before Judge Matthew V. Cahill on a charge of reckless driving, and the hearing was adjourned for two weeks, owing to the extent of the injuries suffered by Dykes. Van Derzee was represented by Attorney Elmer H. Nathan.

According to the police report Dykes was being taken home by John Gilday, 22, of 141 Foxhall avenue. Riding with the two men was Albert Adams of 5 Ten Broeck avenue. At the intersection of Cedar and Prospect street the Gilday car was struck almost in the center by the car driven by Van Derzee.

The force of the impact was such that the Gilday car was driven up over the sidewalk and into the yard of Thomas Rizzi at 113 Cedar street.

One of the doors of the Gilday car flew open and Dykes and Adams were hurled out.

Gilday in his report to the police expressed the opinion that Dykes' head struck the pole at the street corner as he was thrown from the car.

The police department received several telephone calls and one of the radio cars was rushed to the scene. Conner's ambulance was also called by the police and removed Dykes and Adams to the hospital.

At the hospital it was found that Adams had suffered injuries to his face, but he was able to leave the hospital after receiving treatment.

Gilday and Van Derzee, drivers of the cars, escaped injury.

Dykes, who has been serving with the police department during the summer as a special policeman, has been doing special duty for several days at the Island Dock shipyard where a strike is in progress.

Rev. W. C. Swartz Named Moderator

Pleasant Valley Minister Is Chosen at Meeting

The Rev. William C. Swartz of Pleasant Valley was elected moderator of the North River Presbytery meeting on Tuesday in the Presbyterian Church at Little Britain. The greater part of the session was devoted to paying tribute to the Rev. J. Scott King, pastor of the entertaining church, celebrating his 50th year as pastor of the church.

The testimonial program was in charge of the Rev. William Arthur Burner of Cornwall, and the principal speaker was the Rev. Harold B. Kerschner, retiring moderator of Poughkeepsie.

Dr. and Mrs. King were each presented with $50 checks, a dollar for each year of their service, in behalf of the Presbytery. Trustees of the Presbytery elected at the business meeting were Raymond J. Lawrence of Cornwall, John R. Thompson of Amenia, and David F. Coleman of Washingtonville.

Commissioners to a meeting of the New York Synod in Albany on October 21 are: Ministers, Dr. J. Scott King of Little Britain, the Rev. Arthur James of Smithfield and the Rev. S. C. Craig of Newburgh; Elders—Deland Shaw of Poughkeepsie, Charles Bloomer of Marlborough and R. E. Morrison of Little Britain.

Led the State

H. G. LaMothe, manager of the local office of the Upstate Personal Loan Corp., was gratified to receive word from the Albany office Wednesday that the Kingston branch office led the state in increase business in September, and had won the company's contest for new business added that month.

Sons of Legion Meeting
The regular monthly meeting of the Sons of American Legion will be held tonight at 7 o'clock in the Legion Memorial Building. An election of officers will be held. Following the session the Sons of American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps will have a rehearsal. All members are requested to attend.

Samuels to Open Modern Market

North Front Street Store Will Open Tomorrow

D. Samuels and Sons will open their new modern market, handling produce and meats, at the corner of North Front and Crown streets, Friday.

The work of remodeling and renovating the former Every Sales and Service building, purchased by Mr. Samuels, and installing of equipment has been in progress during the past five weeks and its completion shows one of the most modern and commodious markets of the kind in this entire region.

Installations include commodious wall and counter cases for the display of fruits and vegetables and a 20-foot meat case of the latest type at the rear of the store. Daylight lighting is secured by ample installation of the new fluorescent lighting fixtures.

The large Samuels market corner Broadway and Cedar street will be continued, the new market being opened for convenience of customers in the uptown section of the city and out of town people. In addition to the main market space the uptown property, 40x100, provides ample storage space and in addition there is a garage at the rear for accommodation of the company's trucks.

The present extensive business is the outgrowth of a business established by David Samuels in the Hasbrouck building on the Strand in 1906. Later he moved to the Cedar street corner where a wholesale business was added and a fleet of large trucks. Mr. Samuels said this morning that he was the first to truck produce from New York to Kingston. A big feature of their business has been their trade with the various mountain resorts. A year or so since Mr. Samuels took his three sons, Sidney, Seymour and Melvin, into the business and the firm became D. Samuels and Sons.

The new market will handle fruit of all kinds, vegetables, meat and fish.

Move for Airport Loses Momentum

Senate Committee Drops Sum Formerly Listed

Plans to have a $272,000 airport built in Kingston received a setback Wednesday night when the Senate Appropriations Committee in Washington deleted from one of the measures adopted the $80,000,000 which was to have been used by the Civil Aeronautics Board to start work on an airport construction program.

Under the proposed program $300,000,000 to $600,000,000 would have been spent in the next six years to build some 4,000 new air fields.

Opponents emphasized that the proposed airport program was in a tentative stage and expressed confidence that, when and if it became more definite, Congress could vote the necessary funds. There was also a possibility, it was said, that the Senate might reinstate the money.

In deleting the airport funds the committee followed the adverse recommendations of a subcommittee headed by Senator Alva B. Adams, Democrat of Colorado. An economy advocate, he said that he felt the funds should not be appropriated in the pending bill.

Among the proposed sites for airports in a survey made by the CAA was one for this city.

The average motorist in the United States must work two whole weeks each year to pay the taxes on his car.

WAR EXPANSION

The big war spreads, and yet at the same time narrows. In the face of the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo axis, with all its satellite axes, there is nothing for America to do but go along with Britain.

"Britain" means the British Empire, with special application, of course, to England which is the heart of it, and to Canada which is our permanent neighbor and virtually a republic harmonizing with our own.

Included, and only a little less vital to our future, are other British dominions, especially Australia and New Zealand, now threatened by Japanese expansion in the southern Pacific and Indian Oceans.

Little has been said lately about our rich Far-Eastern islands, the Philippines, but a great deal of thinking has been done, by us and by the Filipinos themselves. There is no more talk of the established plan for independence in 1948. It is recognized on both sides that casting them loose in the world as it stands today would be like tossing children to wild beasts.

By tacit consent the United States and the Philippines go along together, for the sake of both parties and the vital interests bound up with the islands and their neighbors—particularly the Dutch Netherlands and adjoining British possessions, including the great British naval base at Singapore. We shall need those regions and their resources, regardless of what happens to Europe.

SLEEP

The right amount of sleep is important. But the right amount differs with the age and make-up of the individual. People who do not get enough are likely to be thin, nervous, restless, with rapid heart-beat and never with enough strength to get comfortably through their days. Too much sleep, on the other hand, may equally lead to loss of weight, because some people who sleep too much aren't hungry enough. But the lazy person who sleeps too much and overeats may get fat and logy and not be good for much.

The individual has to tell by his general condition. If he's full of pep and likes to work and to play and to eat reasonably, he's all right. If he isn't, he'd better take thought about his sleep quota. Maybe his bed is wrong, his window or his pillow.

Dr. I. Bram of Philadelphia questioned 1,000 people about their habits of sleep. Twenty-five thought five hours were all they needed; 60 thought six hours were about right; 150 wanted seven hours; 90 needed nine hours and 20 thought they needed ten. But 655, more than three-fifths of the whole number, thought eight hours were the proper number.

This is an interesting division. Wasn't it Alfred the Great of England who more than a thousand years ago decided that man should divide his 24-hour day into three parts—eight for work, eight for sleep and eight for all the other activities combined?

STRATEGY AND FATE

"If we could move our fleet into the Singapore naval base tomorrow," remarked William L. White last week, "the threat to our Pacific interests would be over. Once the anchor chains of an American battle fleet rattle down to the white sands on the bottom of Singapore Harbor, the Pacific again becomes a free ocean without the necessity of our firing a shot."

We hope so! Such strategy is obvious and perhaps inevitable. But the world grows suddenly strange, and more perilous than most of us have ever imagined until now, and it seems strange to have our hearts in one and our warships in the other. And we shall doubtless see far more unexpected things before this chapter of our history is ended.

DUCKS

Nobody owns a wild duck. No country owns one. Delegates from Canada, the United States and Mexico gather annually at a wild life conference to talk about the problems of ducks migrating over the three countries.

Wild ducks are extremely regular in their habits. In July, every year, the western birds leave meeting grounds in Canada and Alaska. The first summer flight, according to Coast Magazine, comes down the coast and lands at San Francisco about August first. It then spreads inland. Later flights come down the great river valleys, such as the Mackenzie and Columbia, and enter California from over Oregon. By November almost all the ducks are in Mexico, from which they start north again in March.

In 1934 the Duck Stamp Act provided that a dollar be collected from every duck hunter. This raises about $980,000 a year, out of which sanctuaries are being established by state and federal agencies, ducks are banded and their flight studied by the U. S. Biological Survey. There are now five federal and seven state refuges in California.

Preserving the wild life of the continent is not a trifling matter. It's an important part of peaceful living.

An American traveler returning from South America says the only place where the weather was disagreeable was Buenos Aires. "Good airs" were bad airs.

When a nation grabs a neighbor's property, that's just "legitimate territorial expansion," but a private citizen can't get away with it.

The nations all seem to have quit counting how much money they owe.

The news lately is mostly tragedy.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act)
PREVENTING SPREADING COMMON COLD

It is gratifying to see the interest in backward children now taken by school officials and teachers. Anything that can help the backward pupil—eye tests, ear tests, gland—and other physical tests are made and treatment given to enable the boy or girl to become a useful citizen. Everybody recognizes the value of this work to the health and happiness of these children.

It is, however, difficult to get school boards to make provision for physical examinations by school physicians and nurses, yet this inspection and health service would not only prevent much absence from school but might save lives as epidemics of influenza and colds could be prevented.

Teachers, in looking over their class each morning might readily spot a youngster who had a cough or looked pale, and could refer him or her to the school nurse for examination.

The common cold is the most common ailment among children and adults. One case can cause an epidemic that will spread throughout the school room and the whole school, just as it goes through families, factories, and stores. If then this one case is discovered early and kept apart from others, there will be no spreading of the disease.

In some schools pupils are given a short examination—heart, temperature, and throat—before they return to school after the Summer, Christmas and Easter holidays. This has prevented epidemics of colds, mumps, measles and other diseases of childhood, from spreading throughout the school.

How can colds be prevented in children and adults? The same rule applies to both children and adults. Don't eat too much and don't allow yourself to get chilled. Overeating means too much acid wastes in the blood and tissues. If the body is chilled at this time, a cold is likely to start in certain individuals, and this cold is handed on to others. The common cold is considered both infectious and contagious. The tiny organisms causing a cold float in the air where they may be breathed in, or may be on dishes or other utensils used by one who has a cold.

The investment in a health service to the extent of a physician or nurse or both would pay dividends from the health as well as the academic standpoint.

"THE THUNDERING HERD"

Literary Guide

By JOHN SELBY

A History of Chicago
By Bessie Louise Pierce

The second volume of Bessie Louise Pierce's invaluable history of Chicago is now ready to take the reader over the journey between the years 1848 and 1871, the period in which the town on Lake Michigan became a city.

In 1848, when the railroads came to Chicago, it was merely an overgrown village, although its population was nearly 30,000 as against 350 when it was incorporated as a town in 1837. But when Mrs. Leary's cow kicked the lamp over in 1871 (and nobody knows whether it was the cow or merely some Irish celebrants) most of the city of 300,000 was ruined. Professor Pierce's account of the fire is adequate, but anyone who wants a live picture of it, and the Chicago of the day as well, can find it in Ernest Poole's "My Own Story."

Even in 1848 Chicago had no assurance that she would be a great city, no matter what the local boosters said. Milwaukee was still a contender, and St. Louis was ahead in the race. Between that year and the year of the fire two main factors decided the race. One was the canal which connected Lake Michigan with the Illinois River and tended to concentrate trade at the southern end of the lake. The other was the fact that railroads tend to branch from strategic centers, and in this case were forced to pass through Chicago practically speaking, in order to avoid the lake.

Professor Pierce outlines brilliantly the social changes of the period, a large share of which rested on the unprecedented flow of immigrants to and through the city. As early as 1849 the Michigan Central in combination with steamboats was piping them in by the hundreds; in the summer of 1857 within 24 hours 3,400 immigrants arrived on the same road.

The changes in the city by 1871 were curiously determined, however. Culturally there were advances, but these had limitations. Financially the structure was dog eat dog. Chicago could claim undaunted spirit, little spirituality. There was no such thing as homogeneity in a racial sense, and physically the city was a shambles, with ostentatious mansions overhanging clusters of tenements. From Professor Pierce's account the great fire seems a blessing. How great a blessing her next volume will show.

Manufacturing Gains

Washington, D. C.—Production of the four principal manufactured dairy products during August appears to have been nearly 3 percent above their combined production in August last year and, as in most previous months of 1940, the total was a new high for the month. Both cheese and evaporated milk were produced in record volume for August but the production of creamery butter was slightly less than in August last year and only about average in proportion to population.

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinnett

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—If the Army has its way, there'll be no square pegs in round holes when the new "selectees" are inducted into the service. (The Army never refers to "draftees" or "conscripts" or to the "draft" or "conscript"—the present program they'll have you know, is Selective Service and the men are selectees.)

There are so many different classifications of service that it would take more than the length of this column merely to list them. To see that bakers bake and butchers butcher and typists type, the War Department has worked out an elaborate system of check and double-check tests and questionnaires to find just who is a square peg and who a round one.

The military men that sorting manpower in accordance with its most effective qualifications could become something more than a major problem. Even after months of service, entire units were disrupted because it was discovered that men were doing work for which they were not best fitted. Men who could shoe a mare were peeling potatoes and not liking it a little bit. Expert bookkeepers were building bridges. The end of it, of course, was wholesale transfers, wasted time, and frazzled tempers.

There'll be a "Reception"

To get around this in 1940-41, the Army is going about it scientifically. The business, will start in the Reception Centers. (These high sounding names almost have us down.) A "Reception Center" is merely a three or four day clearing house. The "Reception Center" is camp No. 1, where the boys will get their first taste of toughening, one-two-three-four, wearing the old uniform, saluting Shavett Jones and rolling out for 6:15 reveille.

At the Reception Centers the government insurance policies will be issued, vaccinations and inoculations given, and the classification tests and interviews completed.

Don't ask me exactly what these tests and interviews are, because the forms aren't out yet and the Army these days is not telling any secrets in advance. They'll consist in obtaining all the information about aptitudes and experience. If a man's an A-1 plumber, but with a real or imagined yen for flying, it'll be up to the test commission and interviewers to find out if he had better stick to his pipes or soar in the blue.

Double Advantage Cited

The result, the Army thinks, will be two-fold. It'll give some of the boys an opportunity to shine in positions in which they are best suited and happiest; and it may straighten out a lot of misfits in life and discover hidden talents that not even the men themselves suspect they have.

After they are run through the Reception Centers, the men will be assigned to regular Army units, to National Guard units or to Replacement Centers. Since the Army feels that the last method—keeping the selectees together and putting them through a few months of intensive hardening and training in fundamentals of Army routine, it is likely that most of the men who answer the call after October 16 will find themselves in these Replacement camps.

May Not Tote a Gun

There is one other phase of the whole business which the Army at present refuses to discuss and that is that even though Johnny Doe is one of the 40-to-1 shots called in the first quota of chance that he won't be packing a gun.

There are the medical corps, the veterinary corps, the dental corps, the hospital corps, the engineering corps, the quartermaster corps, the clerical forces, the cooks and mechanics and scores of others. All of these are just as vital to an army as the men who fire the little guns and big ones and no army of a million men could be half prepared if it failed to develop these branches to the fullest.

Unpleasant Incidents in Willkie's Campaigning May Work for His Benefit in Minds of Voters

By DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1940)
Washington, Oct. 3.—Unfair and unsportsmanlike attacks on the Willkie campaign train—the throwing of missiles in the industrial districts—may prove more persuasive in awakening the voters of the country to the effects of New Dealism, as it is practiced here, than all the speeches the Republican nominee himself can possibly make.

For the last seven years the doctrine of the New Deal has been preached constantly by the administration and its spokesmen. The workers have been taught to believe that the Republican party and particularly the managers of industry and business are their potential if not actual enemies. It is not surprising to find some voters mistakenly wrought up now to the point of violence.

Not long ago even in this very campaign, President Roosevelt, in a speech to the Teamsters Union, preached class cleavage. Never before has class friction been as pronounced as it is today. Yet the same United States of America existed in the prosperous 'twenties without ugly feeling and fanatical bitterness.

The reason for the development of the class warfare is that the New Deal has merely adopted the totalitarian technique which is to select some group or class and make them the subject of bitter attacks. In Nazi Germany and in Italy the class warfare has taken on religious and racial grounds whereas in the United States the government in power has resorted to hate on economic grounds to condemn business men and employers as a class.

Long before the Wagner labor relations law was passed, the majority of the employers and employees enjoyed satisfactory relations. The cases where exploitation occurred constituted a small minority yet the administration spokesmen give the impression that every employer is an enemy of his workers.

Some day when the public debt has risen to dangerous levels and the nation is on the verge of bankruptcy so that, as happened in Germany in 1923, the wage earner's pay envelope is used up in buying a loaf of bread, the workers will discover that the persons who plotted the breakdown of the economic system really had in the back of their minds a form of national socialism not unlike that which Germany and Italy have put into effect today.

Radicalism thrives on class war.

fare, and so does Communism. The doctrine of the Communist is to foment class war so that chaos will ensue and then the people in desperation will accept radical experiments. The New Deal has in it many men, including the President himself, who would not for a moment tolerate actual Communism. They scoff today at the claim that class warfare can hurt America. Indeed, the theory prevails now as always in administration circles that everything can be kept in hand by one man—just so long as the elections are favorable to the administration.

The argument that the President can control the left-wing has been handed out as a reason for the conservatives to support him. But the conservatives who bet on Hitler's ability to hold back the extremists in Germany soon found themselves mistaken. If the juggernaut of radicalism once gets going in America, even Mr. Roosevelt with the best of intentions will not be able to hold it in check.

It is significant that the President rebuked the government employees who threw missiles at Mr. Willkie. It was a shrewd recognition of the fact that such things cannot go unnoticed in politics. For invariably they react against the party whose supporters resort to that type of thing. The President however would make much more progress if he took the trouble to study the seeds of unrest in America and particularly the currents of enmity which has constant harping on employer-employee relationships has caused. He does it, of course, just to get votes, but the scars he leaves do not disappear the day after election.

The technique of condemning the Republicans as unpatriotic and as somehow supporting Hitler is just another piece of reckless campaigning which the New Deal has adopted. If the Republicans on their part wanted to adopt such lopsided reasoning they might argue that if Hitler is to be the campaign issue, maybe Hitler and not Roosevelt is to be thanked by millions of Americans for the jobs they are getting every day. Certainly until Hitler woke up America to its defenseless position this past summer, millions of persons were still unemployed.

Some day the American electorate will rally to a doctrine of friendship and brotherhood instead of hate and some day the workers will understand that there cannot be jobs without managers or investors or creators of jobs. When that time comes the votes of the working class will force a new national unity in America. (Reproduction Rights Reserved)

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

Some day a Kingston historian may write an interesting story of the city's activities during the World War, but in the meantime those of us who lived through the stirring days of 1917-18 have only our memories to refresh our recollections.

As I recall, it was in March, 1918, that the War Department began releasing for publication in the newspapers the daily casualty list containing the names of those killed, wounded or missing in action. Many of us recall those anxious days when we turned daily to that list to see if a son or friend was named.

The Freeman during the winter of 1917-18 was filled with letters from the boys over there, and also the list of the youths called for examination before the draft boards in the city and county.

War news occupied the place of prominence in The Freeman in those days, but it is also well to recall that the folk at home were trying to carry on life as usual.

It was Wednesday evening, March 6, 1918, that the boys of the Conquerors' Bible Class of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church presented the comedy "Prexy's Proxy," with great success. The boys who took part in the comedy were Vernon Miller, Nelson Hyatt, Blair Muller, John Barton, Jesse

HIGH FALLS

High Falls, Oct. 2.—The congregation of the High Falls Reformed Church has been invited to attend the joint service in the Stone Ridge Methodist Church on Sunday, October 6, to help celebrate the 100th anniversary of the church. Morning worship at 11 o'clock.

The Mothers' Club of the High Falls School will hold a meeting on Thursday, October 10.

The Rev. Henry D. Cook of Paramus, N. J., called on his uncle, Edgar E. Dyer, Monday morning.

Mrs. Thomas Snyder and grandson, Herbert Snyder, Jr., of Poughkeepsie, celebrated their birthdays on Sunday. Mrs. Snyder had a dinner party in honor of the double celebration.

Denton Stillwell of Cooperstown is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George LeFevre.

Mrs. Carlton Beach and baby daughter are enjoying a vacation visiting her parents.

The Rev. Harold J. Hoffman preached his farewell sermon in the Reformed Church Sunday morning. The congregation is sorry to have the Rev. Mr. Hoffman and family move from the village.

Mrs. John Ham, Sr., spent Tuesday with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Ham, Jr.

Mrs. LeRoy Krom and family motored to Albany on Sunday to call on relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Anderson entertained several of their friends over the week-end.

Lieboldt, Arthur Carson and Gus Peterson. The cast was coached by T. H. Richards.

Monday evening, March 18, 1918, the congregation of the historic old First Dutch Church, presented W. Whiting Fredenburgh, who for 27 years had served as church organist, with a gold watch. The presentation on behalf of the church was made by Judge A. T. Clearwater.

It was during the extremely cold winter of 1917-18 that the Odd Fellow lodges of the city staged a pinochle tournament and in March of 1918, the pennant was won by the pinochle experts of Kosciusko Lodge. The team was headed by Captain Otis Rider.

David H. Bush was captain of Aretas Lodge team, Judge Henry E. McKenzie of the Port Ewen Lodge, and Jacob Port of Clay Lodge.

Dr. Wright J. Smith on January 1, 1918, assumed his duties as sheriff of Ulster county. He appeared in court on March 4, 1918, under sheriff, and retained Seth Jocelyn and Robert Every as jailors.

in the courts on many occasions. The controversy between Mr. and Mrs. Uthoff was aired in court when she asked for support and later when a contempt charge was made when it was alleged he failed to support her. An action to set aside a deed conveying the property to Mrs. Uthoff and her son was also heard by Justice Foster and an appeal taken from that judgment which directed return of the property for breach of contract.

Wednesday Mr. Avis also told the jury that after the death of Mr. Uthoff and during the week of mourning the cattle and machinery on the farm were sold without legal authority and that statement was challenged by John Bonomi, counsel for the contestant, who said he had been given a chattel mortgage on the property in return for legal service. The sale, it is claimed, was held after Mr. Uthoff's death because there was no one on the farm to care for the stock.

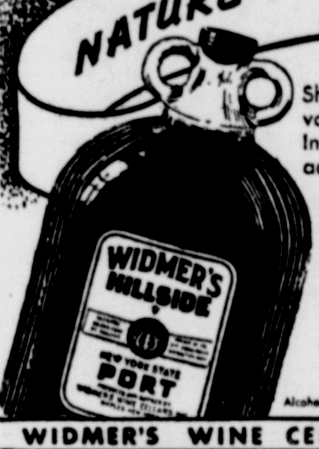

Canberra, Australia—Keen interest is being taken in the Commonwealth Arbitration Court's basic enquiry by Professor Paul A. Dodd, of the University of California, who will spend a year in Australia studying the Australian system of industrial arbitration. He attends all sittings and on one occasion was able to advise the court on an American authority who was being quoted by the advocate for a trade union.

By BEATRICE WHITNEY
STRAIGHT
(Guest conductor for
L. L. Stevenson.)

I love New York for its beauty; I hate it for its brutality. Unlike many New Yorkers, I don't think of it as a grand and exciting place to live. To me, it is a place to come to on a boat, through the dawn, when skyscrapers loom through the early mist. Then it is a city of promise. But it is not a place to linger long. It is a city to taste and be off—to leave across a bridge; stopping, to look back at the resplendent magnitude of its skyline; listening, to catch its rhythmic, subdued roar. New York at a distance is wonderful—especially at dawn or dusk, the shadowy outlines of its buildings dotted by lights that blink off and on; its rivers, with their ferries, boats, and pleasure ships, and wharfs, and sound, and smoke; its bridges, the most beautiful in the world, swinging so eagerly and so gracefully onto the island, approached by a lacework of parkways.

Although born here, I do not, like most native New Yorkers, have a composite picture of the city that merges the impressions of various ages. I left here when I was 11 and I have a picture of the city in which my childhood was spent. Later, I came back for a year; and I have a picture of the city in which I was a busy and serious young student. Away again, and now back to live outside of the city; and I have pictures of a New York to which I dash on hurried visits and for rushed appointments. Usually, they are in connection with the Chekhov Theater studio at Ridgefield, Conn., where I live and work as assistant director, as a teacher of talented young drama students, as an actress; the most thrilling and, to me, the most important experience of my life.

This New York offers no leisure hours to wander as one pleases. New York can become, threatens to become, a horror—until one stumbles upon some wonderful person, some funny little shop of a specialist in wigs, or costumes, or shoes, or some of the many things needed for stage productions—maybe a secondhand shop full of marvelous things, hard to tear one's self away from; an auction sale; a quaint shop in Chinatown or on the Bowery.

Except on Sundays. Then it's a different New York. New York on a Sunday or a holiday is a city of great dignity, of peace, calm and beauty. One can walk instead of run. One can choose what one will do, and do it slowly. One can enjoy the moments instead of longing for the end.

In the winter, though, New York is at its best. The lights are brilliant in the cold. The keen air is fresh and clean. Plays, music, movement—yes, the winter is its time.

And the early spring. In Central park, the tulip trees; the many nurses and the children; the dogs and their funny masters, so incongruous; foreign old men with their tiny toy boats on the round pond in the park, their pride in the beautifully fashioned little ships that collide or pass so gracefully in the light.

The drive along the Hudson river, on the edge of the island, looking over to the busy Jersey shore and the towering Palisades, is as fantastically lovely as the views from the bridges.

New York today differs from the picture that lingers from my childhood—a city that held the magic of flying spears and disappearing ladies at the opera; red and yellow whirligigs that whistled in the wind; the man who sold the colored balloons, the circus, roller-skating and fighting with my brother.

Nor is it the New York of my student days. I loved the evening stillness of the park. I loved the trolleys, their slowness; people's faces; the crooked little streets of Greenwich village; restaurants, a different country each night, sitting and talking and relaxing after meals; the elevated looking into people's homes, imagining the hundreds of lives being lived behind those walls.

New York! Its beauty makes me almost forget the brutality that tinges my love with hate.

Dorothy Thomas tootles the solo oboe for the 65-piece Chicago Women's Symphony Orchestra.

Mrs. Carol Harris, of Kansas City, a professional picket, started walking in front of a jewelry store nearly two years ago. She's trudged more than 2,500 miles, reads four books and several magazines a week, has lost 50 pounds.

Mrs. Margaret Rudkin, Fairfield, Conn., socialite, started baking wholewheat-milk-butter-honey bread to help her little boy's rundown health. He liked it, others liked it—now it's big business.

Marie Pouliot of Hamilton, Ont., got a job at a filling station because the proprietor couldn't keep men on the job. They were joining the army as fast as they learned the work.

Urge Government to Aid Housing Plans for Cities

Expressing its belief that the rebuilding of the extensive and growing blighted areas in our cities is an urgent necessity, the National Association of Real Estate Boards suggests that U. S. H. A. be remodeled to turn its activities to the assistance of private redevelopment companies, chartered by it, to rebuild large areas in the blighted districts.

"Blight and decay in the close-in areas is in itself a major cause of bad housing," the statement, signed by Newton C. Farr, Chicago, president of the association, and Herbert U. Nelson, Chicago, executive vice president, points out.

"Decline of these areas has many causes, but chief among them, no doubt, is the increased use of the automobile. This has caused too sudden and unplanned decentralization. The blighted areas cannot be reassembled, replanned, and rebuilt by private effort unless government helps. If government and private business can develop an appropriate plan for this vast undertaking, it will help local government and stimulate employment. We are working on the details of a practical plan of this kind which would, we believe, put many dollars of private funds to work for every dollar invested by government."

"Emergency" gasoline taxes collected by the federal government and several states in addition to "regular" gasoline taxes now take approximately $400,000,000 annually from the pockets of motorists.

First Junior American Citizens Club In Kingston Organized by DAR Chapter

The first of several Junior American Citizens Clubs in Kingston, sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution, was organized on Tuesday with 32 girls and boys ranging from 10 to 14 years of age in the 7th grade of School No. 8.

The clubs are formed with the object of helping the youth of America to become good, upright American citizens, learning about municipal, state and federal governments, the history and correct use of the flag, learning to be courteous, healthy, scholarly, conserving of the property of others and in general becoming helpful and earnest citizens.

There are no dues in these clubs, thus enabling many to belong who would otherwise find it impossible to do so. The name chosen by the members of this club is "The Abraham Lincoln Junior American Citizens Club." Meetings will be held the first and third Tuesdays of each month at the school at 3:30 o'clock. Each meeting will emphasize some day famous in America from an historic standpoint. The club's activities will be in charge of Mrs. Adam Porter, a member of Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

The officers elected by the group for the year are Charles Abbott, president; Frank Martino, first vice president; Richard Adams, second vice president; Shirley Miller, secretary; and Robert Hymes, color bearer. Arlene Van Buren, Mary Lou Riehl, Doris Palmatier and Richard Scott will form the color guard.

Each morning members appointed by the president will conduct the flag salute in each of the rooms. Those assuming this duty for the first month will be Eleanor Buley, Marie Mower, Shirley Miller, Rose Marie Nardi, Dolores Miller, Rosemary McSpirt, Martin Friedman, Richard Adams, Doris Dabney, Robert Lindroth, Clarence Nichols and Sidney Wolven. Each month a new group of color marshals will be appointed by the president.

There will also be several active committees on which the members will act, taking part in the club's business such as executive, courtesy, conservation, health, historical, hobbies, program, recreation, safety and scholarship.

Other members of the club are Robert Jamieson, Peter Karageorge, Elias Myers, Louis Petrimala, Elizabeth Cadden, Lil Lown, Catherine North, Janet Piester, Hilda Friedmann, Marie

Vollmer, Betty White and Jack Haberstromp.

Members of the Daughters of the American Revolution sincerely hope that all schools will follow with their Junior American Citizens Clubs within a short time and will express a desire to organize such groups so that Kingston may not only go down in American history as being famous for its many historical landmarks but as a 100 per cent Junior American Club in each school. Superintendent of Schools Arthur J. Laidlaw has endorsed this plan and is anxious to see such a result here.

Ryder-Vreeland

Miss Frances H. Vreeland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Vreeland of Albany avenue extension and Hughes M. Ryder of West Thornton, N. H., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Ryder of New Haven, Conn., were united in marriage Tuesday, October 1, at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed at 5 o'clock by the Rev. Maurice V. Venno, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church.

The bride wore a dress of medium blue velvet and a corsage of pink roses. She was attended by Miss Frances Ryder, sister of the groom, who wore plum colored chiffon velvet and a corsage of chrysanthemums. Roger Vreeland, brother of the bride, attended as best man. Music was furnished by a local orchestra.

A reception for over 45 guests followed at the home after which Mr. and Mrs. Ryder left for New York city. They will make their home in West Thornton, N. H.

Musicians to Marry

Woodstock, Oct. 3.—Catherine Florence Lynch and Paul Jerome Thayer will be married October 5 at the Church of Our Lady of Good Counsel in Brooklyn. Mr. Thayer is well known in Woodstock. He is well known in musical circles and has been identified with a number of choirs, many of which have attained prominence in and around New York.

Club Announcements

L. C. B. A.

A meeting of St. Mary's Branch, 256 L.C.B.A., will be held this evening in St. Mary's Hall at 8 o'clock.

Missionary Society

The Women's Missionary Society of the Fair Street Reformed Church will meet in the Sunday school room Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Grant Johnston will be the leader with the topic, "Changeless Christ in Changing China."

Suppers-Food Sales

The annual cafeteria supper sponsored by the Men's Club of the Fair Street Church will be served in the basement of the church Wednesday, October 9, from 5:30 o'clock until all are served. The usual varied menu of both hot and cold dishes will be available to the public and will be served by the men of the club assisted by the young ladies of the church. Members of the club are asked to report Tuesday evening at the church to complete final work for the supper on Wednesday. At the regular meeting of the club Tuesday evening Harry Sweeney was named to manage the dartball team this season. Play will start later this month. William Newkirk, Sr., was named as the club's delegate to the softball conference to be held by the Federation in January to formulate playing rules for the coming season.

The Priscilla and Ladies' Aid Societies of the Port Ewen Methodist Church will hold their annual fair October 15 and 16. A turkey supper will be served each night, beginning at 5:30 o'clock and continuing until all are served. There will be entertainment at 8 o'clock.

The ladies of the St. Remy Reformed Church will hold their annual chicken dinner in the dining room of the church Thursday evening, October 24. A delightful menu is being prepared.

Youngest in Class

MISS ALICE WARD

Miss Alice Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Ward, 97 Clifton avenue, has entered Cortland Normal School, the youngest member of her class. She is already active in the extra-curricular activities of the school and is a member of the riding club, the orchestra and the glee club. Miss Ward was graduated in June from Kingston High School.

Avallone-Bradford

Miss Norma Katherine Bradford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Bradford of Eddyville and Donald A. Avallone, son of Mrs. Gaetano Avallone of New York city, were married Saturday, September 28, at 4 o'clock, at the Church of the Sacred Heart, Eddyville. The Rev. William P. F. Dooley officiated.

Miss Anna Prendergast of Port Ewen and Vincent Frims of New York city attended the couple. Ushers were John W. Riley and Arthur Hunt, also of New York city. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown with puffed sleeves and train. Her veil, which fell from a cap, extended beyond the length of the train. She carried a bridal bouquet of white rosebuds and swansons.

Miss Prendergast wore a blue moire taffeta gown with duobonnet accessories and carried gladioli. A reception was held at the Schumann Hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Avallone will reside in New York.

Swarthout-Robinson

Miss Irene Robinson of 225 Smith avenue and John D. Swarthout of Bloomington were united in marriage September 28 by the Rev. Edmund Burke of St. Joseph's Church. They were attended by Miss Ruth Terpening and Bruno Koditek.

There's Merit in a Meal That Will Stand and Wait

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE

AP Feature Service Writer

Don't get jittery if members of your family frequently are late for dinner. The meal need not be ruined.

Plan dinners that do not mind waiting. Then you can take care of such emergencies as the after-school practice or the football game that detains the children.

Have soups, stews, vegetables, gravies and sauces that can be reheated over low heat or in a double boiler.

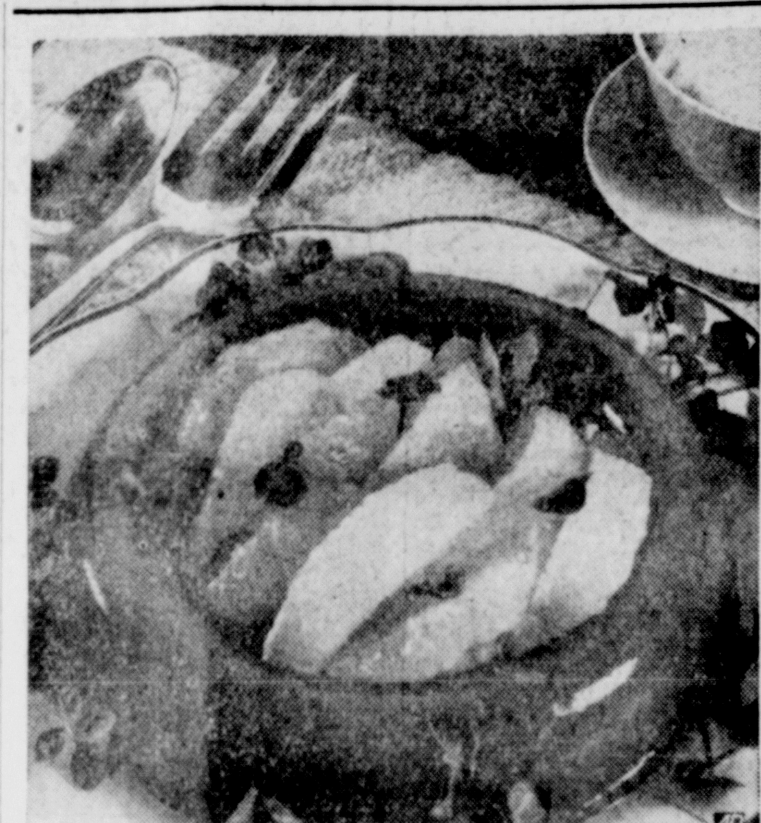

Rolls keep warm for some time if tucked under a cloth or in a bun warmer near heat. A 30-minute wait means nothing to escalloped dishes, meat or fish loaves, or vegetables pot pie when kept in pan of warm water over low heat.

Quick breads are usually best served as soon as baked. Make them up ready for the oven and store in the refrigerator until the slamming front door announces the arrival of the family.

When you think the dinner may be held up, make up CREOLE GREEN PEPPERS. Cut 6 large peppers lengthwise in halves and discard the seeds and pulp. Stuff with 2 cups boiled rice mixed with 1/2 cup bread crumbs, a cup of leftover meat, fish, or fowl; 3 tablespoons melted butter and a tablespoon of catsup. Season lightly with chopped onions, parsley, salt and paprika. Bake 35 minutes in a moderate oven. Bake a fruit cocktail or fruit desert along with the peppers and serve warm or cold.

For a vegetable treat bake SWEET POTATOES WITH ORANGES. For 2 cups of sliced cooked potatoes add a sliced orange, 4 teaspoon grated orange rind, 3 tablespoons dark brown sugar, 2 tablespoons melted butter, a little salt and pepper and 2/3 cup water. Simmer 10 minutes and add 1 cup cooked shrimps and salt and paprika. Pour over macaroni, rice or spaghetti.

SALMON LOAF BETTINA can be kept in a pan of hot water on stove or it can be reheated in a moderate oven. Mix a pound can of salmon with 1 cup soft bread crumbs, 1 egg or 2 yolks, 1 tablespoon chopped celery, 1/2 teaspoon

From the can that furnished the grapefruit sections came the juice that gave tart flavor to the jellied mold of this tempting salad. For luncheon or dinner, this grapefruit-tomato aspic salad is made quickly.

sugar, 2 tablespoons melted butter, a little salt and pepper and 2/3 cup water. Simmer 10 minutes and add 1 cup cooked shrimps and salt and paprika. Pour over macaroni, rice or spaghetti.

JAMBOLAYA is a home-spun main dish that can wait indefinitely. Brown 1/4 cup chopped bacon. Add 2 tablespoons each of chopped onions, celery and green peppers. Add 1 cup chopped salt and 1/4 teaspoon each pepper, celery seed and dried parsley. Pour in 1/2 cup and 3 tablespoons melted butter. Bake 35 minutes in a greased pan in moderate oven.

Quick Salad

Soup's on quick as a when you choose this grapefruit aspic salad and its cottage cheese dressing. It's salad that you can take right off the can.

Miami Aspic

2 envelopes of plain unred gelatine
1/3 cup cold water
2 1/4 cups tomato juice
1 cup grapefruit juice
1 slice of onion
4 peppercorns
4 whole cloves
1 bay leaf
1/3 cup coarsely chopped celery leaves
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
1 No. 2 can grapefruit juice, drained
Soften gelatine in cooler. Mix tomato juice with fruit juice and seasonings; cover and simmer for 15 minutes. Strain, add the softened gelatine and stir until dissolved. Pour into a quart ring mold, rinsed in cold water, and chill until firm. Unmold and fill center with grapefruit sections and garnish. Serve with Chive Cottage Cheese Dressing. Makes 8 servings.

Chive-Cottage-Cheese Dressing
1 cup cottage cheese
1/2 cup salad dressing or mayonnaise
Dash cayenne pepper
2 tablespoons chopped chives
Blend cottage cheese with mayonnaise or salad dressing. Add pepper and chives.

Kerhonkson Union School Activities; Desks Arrive

Kerhonkson, Oct. 3 — When opened this year, students surprised to find new desks in the study hall-library. The balance of the equipment for this year is being installed this week. The school consists of book shelves which accommodate any size book. Other features include a rack for newspapers, a display case and a storage board with a bulletin board.

Students will now have ready reference materials, current magazines and newspapers, charts, and a picture file. The system makes it possible for students to secure help any time during the day in finding material for assignments.

Assembly Programs

The high school assembly Friday afternoon will feature an address by the Reverend Chester E. Egan on the subject, "Living One's Life." Mr. Egan has spoken to the high school several times in the past. His talks are very popular. The elementary school will launch its assembly program with a health play, "Jimmy's Dream," directed by Mrs. Olive S. Eck. Characters include: James Marquit, Verna, William Decker, Samuel, Frances Booth, Lillian Henkel, Vera Kunz. A demonstration in introducing playmates will be presented by Mel Divine, Georgia Styles, Mel West and Nancy Patruno. At this assembly, Mr. Axtell, Police Advisor will recommend candidates for the Junior League. Badges will be presented at this time to the successful applicants.

Activities

At a recent meeting of the Student Council, a budget for the year was drawn up. Herbert Poppel was elected manager of student taxes. He will begin his duties this week. Other matters discussed were the holding of candy and soda concessions, dates for class movies, and the payment of bills.

This year's activities in the Kerhonkson High School include: Flying Goose (school paper), Photography Club, Folk Dancing, Archery Club, 4-H Forums, Library Staff, Minute Girls, Stamp Club, Dramatics, Dancing Class, Council (school annual), Math Club, Boy Scouts, Tumbling, Art Club, Girls' Glee Club, Soccer, Field Hockey, and Basketball.

The Kerhonkson Junior Citizens organization is being reorganized and will get under way this week. Mr. Axtell will have charge of the group.

Plans for Parent-Teacher Meeting — Parents and friends who attended the first Parent-Teacher meeting of the year last Wednesday evening, witnessed a demonstration of wild life activity and a display of mounted insect life. The latter included an excellent collection recently presented to the school by Mrs. H. F. Small. Miss Abigail E. Stokes, teacher of the first and second grades set up an exhibit of reading materials and books used by the pupils in her classes. One cannot help being impressed by the excellent material now available to pupils in learning this fundamental process. Parents who missed the demonstration are cordially welcome to visit the school at their convenience.

Teachers' Conference

At a meeting last Monday afternoon, the Kerhonkson Faculty voted to attend the Eastern Zone Conference of the New York State Teachers' Association at Albany, Friday, October 18. The program includes an address by Professor William Lyon Phelps, of Yale University, and a series of section meetings pertaining to various subjects.

The faculty voted to send a letter of approval and congratulations to Superintendent Lester J. Koosa for the excellent conference conducted in Ellenville last Friday.

Fritz Feist Held For Grand Jury

German Alien, 17, Must Answer Assault Charge

Fritz Feist, 17 year old German alien sailor, who allegedly shot at his former employer, Carl Lucht at Wallkill, following an argument after the youth had left the employ of Mr. Lucht, is being held for grand jury action at Jamestown on a charge of assault, first degree, for the shooting at his companions when they evicted him from a car at Jamestown.

Feist, it is charged, fired a shot at Mr. Lucht as he left the Wallkill farm after an argument, and then apparently went with companions to Jamestown where he was evicted from the car. As the car left he fired a revolver at the fleeing car and was picked up by police. It was then learned through State Trooper Klein that he was wanted here for assault, second degree, for the Wallkill shooting. However he has been held for action by a Cattaraugus county grand jury and is being held in jail in lieu of bail.

Trooper Klein said the warrant which is being held by the authorities here will be served when Feist is released from the present charge in Jamestown.

Apparently the displacement of a dangerous coal oil lamp and the rapidly increasing availability of electricity in rural areas is having little effect upon farm fire toll. Last year rural property worth $100,000,000 went in flames—and half the fires are attributed to carelessness. The annual loss during the previous decade was about the same, although there was a hopeful decrease in 1928 when 165,700 rural fires did $83,000,000 damage.

Coal production in Canada during the first half of 1930 amounted to 8,227,401 tons compared with 6,816,269 tons in the first six months of 1929.

District Superintendents' Meeting Largely Attended

One of the most successful and one of the most interesting conferences for teachers was presented by Superintendent Lester J. Roosa at Ellenville Friday, September 27.

P. E. Clark, president of the Board of Education of the Ellenville system, opened the session with a speech of welcome. His fine spirit of cordiality gave promise of what was in store for the group.

An excellent program of music by the grade children was presented by Mrs. Ruth E. Rencher.

State Supervisor of Attendance Florence E. McCarty, talked briefly on attendance problems and permanent record cards. She was followed by County Judge Andrew J. Cook, who discussed problems of the Children's Court and juvenile delinquency. Judge Cook's address evoked intense interest on the part of the gathering and opened the eyes of many to the problems settled almost daily by the Children's Court.

The next phase of the morning program was given over to a discussion of reading. The elementary teachers were addressed by Miss Ethel McFarlane, reading supervisor in New Paltz Normal School. Her topic was “What's Wrong With Our Reading Program?” The high school teachers moved to an adjoining room where Principal Clifford L. Bell led a discussion on the subject “Reading Problems Confronting the Secondary School.” Teachers were agreed that this presented one of the most serious problems which teachers must face.

The afternoon session of the conference which opened at 1:30 was presided over by Orville Bates, president of the Third Supervisory District Teachers' Association. New officers selected for the coming year are: S. Robert Kelder, president; Mrs. Kirby, vice-president; Mrs. Kirby, secretary; Mr. Moore, treasurer.

The highlight of the afternoon session was an address delivered by Dr. Earl J. Thomson of New York University on the subject, “The European Merry-go-Round.” Dr. Thomson discussed vigorously the events now taking place in Europe and presented a clear picture of the effect of these events upon people in the United States. Dr. Thomson is a world traveler, an author of textbooks and a former superintendent of city schools.

Axis Gestures Toward Russia Resulting in Weird Diplomacy

Tokyo and Berlin Make
Overtures While Duce
Remains Silent With Upthrust Chin

Moscow Smiles

Muscovites Give Only
Inscrutable Smile of Poker Player

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Berlin and Tokyo continue to make gestures of ostensible amity toward Russia in an effort to bring the Muscovites into line with the expansionist ambitions of the new triple alliance (Germany, Italy and Japan), or at least to keep the Bolsheviks from torpedoing the plans of the trio.

At present Japan — backed by Germany — seems to be fishing for a non-aggression pact with Russia, similar to the one existing between Germany and the Soviet. Nippon already has on hand all the trouble it wants.

Signor Mussolini, who hates Communism with an all-consuming passion, thus far has left the overtures to the other two musketeers—Herr Hitler and Prince Konoze. Germany and Japan also had sworn great oaths against Communism, but they're not letting that interfere with business.

Moscow has smiled in response, but it's one of those straight-lipped smiles—like that of the master gambler playing his cards close to his chest. It isn't easy to interpret.

Since the formation of the triple alliance, Communist Chief Stalin has maintained a silence which a mystery-story writer might designate as "inscrutable." The word agrees that Russia's attitude is of vast importance to the outcome of the war and the future of Europe. I believe we can pin that attitude down in general terms, though it's doubtful if anyone, excepting Stalin and close associates, can say what course it may take in the immediate future as a matter of expediency.

Offers Best Seller
Little straw often shows where big winds are coming from — and Moscow has just tossed a tiny straw into the air. This is an official announcement listing Stalin's handbook, "A Brief History of the Communist Party," as among the world's best sellers.

The Communist party organ Pravda in commenting on this says that "thanks to the wise policy of Lenin and Stalin and guided by the trusty compass of the Marxist-Leninist theory, the front of socialism has expanded." Pravda refers specifically to the recent creation of the Soviet republics of Latvia, Estonia, Lithuania, Bessarabia and Karelia — territories absorbed by the Bolsheviks since the outbreak of war.

The Russian press is government controlled and items like that have a definite purpose. In itself the story isn't of vital importance, and yet to the reading public of the Soviet it is a reaffirmation of the policy for the spread of Communism to other countries. It says as plainly as the melec. His task is to take advantage of the spread of Communism. The economic havoc wrought by the World War had created conditions favorable to dictator upheavals in many countries. Dictators Mussolini and Hitler rose to power largely through anti-Communist crusades.

But Stalin saw that money and energy which were badly needed at home were being expended abroad. He therefore shelved (temporarily) the world revolution and set about making Russia strong industrially and militarily. His shrewd mind saw that the World War wasn't finished and that soon Europe would be in flames again.

Now conditions are such that he is returning to the program for the spread of Communism westward across the continent. His strategy is to take advantage of every opening and at the same time not get caught in the melec. His task isn't easy, for he knows that sooner or later he will have to fight both Germany and Japan.

It's quite possible that we may see further cooperation between Russia and the Axis. And it won't be surprising if ultimately Stalin aligns himself with Britain in order to break the strength of the triple alliance which has become a menace to him. But whatever he does it will be directed toward the policy I indicated.

Vague Phraseology Of Pledge Causes Unfilled Quotas

Military Angle Scares Off Applicants for C.A.A., Is Report of Three College Boards

Baltimore, Oct. 3 (AP)—"Vague" wording of a "military pledge" required of applicants for civil aeronautics administration pilot-training courses was blamed by Maryland educational institutions today for their inability to fill training quotas.

Officials at Johns Hopkins University, Loyola College and Baltimore University, reporting the most difficult, contended the pledge was legally meaningless but that CAA officials either could not or would not explain it satisfactorily.

The pledge specifically binds all applicants for the free college flight training courses to "apply for flight training in the military service of the United States." Recently, 44 of 70 applicants walked out of the University of Baltimore when university officials admitted they could not say what would be expected to students signing the pledge.

Chief stumbling block, officials said, was not students' opposition to military service. Applicants objected that the pledge failed to specify when they had to apply for military service or how long they would serve.

10,000 Capsules Are on Order

Washington, Oct. 3 (AP)—Uncle Sam has 10,000 capsules on order—but not for medical purposes.

The capsules—the same kind a druggist uses for prescriptions—are for the "conscripted lottery" which will determine the order in which men are to be called for their year's service in the army. Serial numbers will be inserted in the capsules corresponding to the serial numbers given to draft eligibles when they register. The order in which the numbers are drawn will determine the sequence in which eligibles are liable to service.

The famous "goldfish bowl" from which World War draft numbers were drawn will be used for the forthcoming lottery.

Program Given For Night School Classes in City

Night school registration will be held Wednesday evening, October 9 at 7 o'clock in Hall A of the high school building. Classes will start Monday evening, October 14, and will be held regularly on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings from 7:15 to 9:15.

All applicants should register on October 9, as classes will be organized on the basis of this preliminary registration and those who register late.

Classes will be formed only in the following subjects, in which the registration warrants the class: Americanization, bookkeeping, typing, shorthand, machine shop, woodworking, needle trades, auto mechanics and trade electricity.

In the vocational classes preference will be given to those actually employed in the trade in which they seek instruction. Those who do not attend regularly will be dropped in favor of those in the waiting lists.

Applicants may register for one course only, except in the commercial classes, where the session will be divided into two one hour periods.

A fee of $1, payable at the time the classes start, will be returned, provided the student attends three-quarters of the 50 sessions of the school. A deposit of $1 will be charged for textbooks in bookkeeping and shorthand, to be refunded when the books are returned.

Autumnal Babies Have Better Bones, Scientists Declare

Condition Is Not Magic, but Due to Diet and Sunshine in Vital Last Months

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE (Associated Press Science Editor)

State College, Pa., Oct. 3—Scientific evidence that babies born in October and November have better bones on the average than those born in other months was announced today at Pennsylvania State College.

The study was made by the division of home nutrition, by Dr. Pauline Beery Mack, Portia Bricker Harvey and Alice Beakley.

It is not magic in the fall weather, but diet and sunshine which account for the better bones. The expectant mothers diet is more varied in summer than in winter because of lack of vitamin D, a motherhood essential often neglected in diet.

"The fall babies' bones are mineral density and greater maturity. From November onward, the newborn bones are progressively worse in these two respects, until June or July."

The practical importance of the discovery is in the possibility that better diet will bring infants of all months up to a better standard.

Among dairy products farm boys and girls consumed at the 4-H cafeteria at the state fair were 475 pounds of butter, 1,070 quarts of milk, 3,810 bottles of milk, 8,310 bottles of chocolate milk, 73 quarts of heavy cream, 40 pounds of cottage cheese, and 98 gallons of ice cream. This was during a nine-day period.

U. S. Has Three Vital Factors To Build Greater America Regardless of War's Effect

Wallace Says Nation Could Become Example of Democracy; Speaks for Defenses

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 3 (AP)—No matter what happens to the world after the European war, Henry A. Wallace says, the United States "has the machinery, the personnel and the skill to build a greater America."

"This country could become an example to the world—a 'practical' example of democracy at work," the Democratic vice-presidential candidate declared here last night in his closing northwest campaign address.

After the war, he predicted, "the countries of Europe and Asia will not have gold; we shall not want to take their paper promises and there will be violent objections to our accepting their goods."

"We may give them wheat for awhile, if they are friendly, but in the end we must suit our actions to the new world economic conditions. No matter what happens in the rest of the world, it will not be easy in the future, but we have the knowledge to make abundance a real blessing for the people of America."

Speaking in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, Wallace warned that strong defenses were necessary "if we are going to have peace on this hemisphere."

He praised the efforts of President Roosevelt to speed rearmament and described a "united Europe and Asia under Hitler" as a "real threat" to the United States.

"Reconstruction after world war it will be much more difficult than after World War I," he declared.

"I say to you to be thankful for a Democratic party that knows how to deal with such problems."

"We had to pick up the pieces in 1932."

Sites Are Viewed Experts Go to Jamaica

Nassau, Bahamas, Oct. 3 (AP)—Army and navy experts, working swiftly to complete preliminary details toward establishment of United States defense outposts, headed for an inspection tour of other Caribbean base sites today after an aerial survey of the Bahamas Islands.

The eight-man mission, headed by Rear Admiral John W. Greenleaf and Brig.-Gen. Jacob L. Devers, planned to meet another commission aboard the cruiser St. Louis at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, for inspection of base sites in Jamaica, Trinidad, British Guiana, St. Lucia and Antigua.

Admiral Greenleaf said "so many suitable areas were available that it was difficult to decide 'exactly what we want in the Bahamas.'"

He indicated, however, that Nassau itself might satisfy the United States' needs for airfield and seaplane facilities. The group visited the Duke of Windsor yesterday.

Will Plan for Ball
Plans for holding the annual Victory Ball of Kingston Post, American Legion, on Armistice night, November 11, in the Kingston Municipal Auditorium, will be discussed at a meeting of members of the various committees which will be held in the Memorial building this evening at 8:30 o'clock. Notices have been sent to all who are to serve on the committees and Commander Jerry Martin would like to have all committee members present at the meeting. Always one of the outstanding social events of the season the veterans will endeavor to make their annual affair as good as ones held in the past by them.

3 Families Own Enormous Control In U.S. Businesses

DuPonts, Rockefellers and Mellons Own Controlling Shares in at Least 15 Big Concerns

Washington, Oct. 3 (AP)—The duPont, Mellon and Rockefeller families, a securities commission study asserts, have share holdings valued at nearly $1,400,000,000 which are "so placed as to give them considerable influence if not control" over 15 of the 200 largest non-financial corporations in the nation.

Foreign investors also have a considerable stake in the same 200 corporations, it was stated in the report which was released yesterday by Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), chairman of the monopoly committee.

At the end of 1937, the foreign investors' common stock holdings in the firms amounted to $1,800,000,000 and their preferred stock $200,000,000, he said.

O'Mahoney said 13 family groups were shown to have holdings worth $2,700,000,000, representing eight per cent of the stock of the corporations. The duPont, Mellon and Rockefeller interests, he said, were among the 13.

O'Mahoney said that they have "a majority control of only one of the 200 corporations, the Shell Union Oil Corporation, although their holdings are very substantial in Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation and American Metals Company, Ltd."

17 Persons Killed
Amsterdam, (Via Berlin), Oct. 3 (AP)—Seventeen persons were killed and 20 wounded at Haarlem, near Amsterdam, early today in an aerial bombardment which Dutch sources described as the worst since the German invasion began May 10.

Trouble Ahead?
Rocky Mount, N. C. (AP)—Arthur Schulken, applying for admission to the national guard on Friday the 13th, asked to be assigned to the 113th field artillery and stated he had been a member of Black Cat Boy Scout troop No. 13.

Church services will be held at 2 o'clock next Sunday afternoon instead of 3, as during the summer months.

Two Invasion Alarms Sounded in Six Weeks

New York, Oct. 3 (AP)—Two invasion alarms have been sounded along the English Channel coast in the past six weeks, "bringing the army and navy springing to their stations" and causing the release of a chemical fog screen, says Vincent Sheean, foreign correspondent, who arrived yesterday aboard the Atlantic Clipper from Lisbon.

Sheean said the first alarm was sounded August 25 and the second September 7, and on both occasions reports for the United States were suppressed by British censors.

"I heard and I believe that chemical fog was used during the August 25 alarm," he said. "Of course, I don't know whether or not there were any actual attempts to land German troops in England."

Sheean said property damage in London is "terrible," but military damage has not been so heavy.

Lloyd Lehrbas, Associated Press correspondent lately in Vichy, reported that unoccupied sections of France seemed faced with "severe privation."

ALLIGERVILLE

Alligerville, Oct. 2.—Mrs. Elmer Smith, tax collector of District 1 School, is receiving the taxes at her home at one per cent from the time of date, September 27, for one month. Thereafter five per cent will be charged.

School was closed Friday on account of the teachers' convention at Ellenville.

Mrs. Ida DeGroot entertained during the week Mrs. Anna King and daughter and Mrs. Julia Boice from Syracuse, also John R. Mickle and Mrs. Evelyn Lake from Middletown.

Church services will be held at 2 o'clock next Sunday afternoon instead of 3, as during the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Benson Elmendorf and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Simons of Briarcliff spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Warry Krom and mother.

Fourth Child Born To Mrs. Lindbergh

Daughter Comes Day Prior to Release of Mother's Book on Conflict

MRS. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH

New York, Oct. 3 (AP)—Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh gave birth yesterday to her fourth child—a 7½ pound daughter—a day before her third book was published.

Mother and daughter are reported doing well at Doctors Hospital. Mrs. Lindbergh was visited yesterday afternoon by her aviator husband and later by her mother, Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow.

Colonel Lindbergh, in recent expressions, has urged that the United States avoid involvement in the European war. Mrs. Lindbergh's new book is entitled "The Wave of the Future," and in it she views the conflict as a struggle between the forces of the past and of the future, of Germany, Italy and Russia in the latter category.

"I cannot see this war," she writes, "simply and purely as a struggle between the 'forces of good' and the 'forces of evil.'"

"We must ask ourselves whether we may jeopardize the reforms already started here in our own country by plunging into the turmoil abroad; whether the efforts of our present pioneers also shall be wasted, or might not a course be found which took advantage of, rather than opposed, the great forces pushing in the world."

Mrs. Lindbergh's sons, Jon Morrow and Land Morrow, were born in 1932 and 1937. The first child, Charles, Jr., was kidnapped from the Lindbergh home in March, 1932, and later found dead. Bruno Richard Hauptmann was convicted of the slaying and died in the electric chair at Trenton.

Rev. J. A. Wright Speaks to Rotary

Gives Inspiring Talk on Meaning of Rotary

The Rev. John A. Wright, pastor of the Wurts Street Baptist Church, and a member of the Kingston Rotary Club, brought an inspiring message on the true meaning of Rotary at the weekly luncheon held Wednesday at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Cooperative selfishness, the speaker stated, was what Rotary meant to him and with the exemplification of this splendid principle no higher service could be performed for mankind. Guidance for the healthy boy and relief for the physically unfit was a work for which he was proud, he declared, in exhorting the members to carry on with this great service.

Tolerance and charity in speech about those with whom we differ or disagree was very necessary, he said, if we are to accomplish the well-defined program that the high standard of membership in the service club is capable of performing.

Examples of the self-sacrificing of time, talents, energy and finances of individual members toward those in need were interspersed throughout the able address.

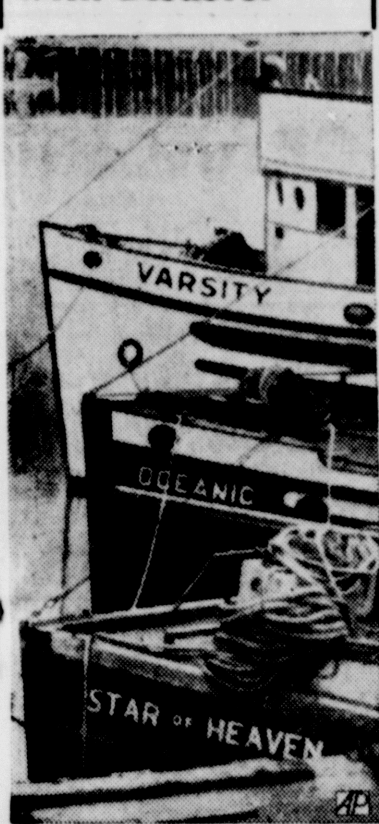

Progress was reported in the formation of a bowling club, which would meet in competition with other Rotary clubs in the Mid-Hudson region.

Holy Name Union Meeting Is Called

John Lonello Out on Bail

New York, Oct. 2 (Special).—John Lonello of Marlborough, for whom a bench warrant was issued in United States District Court here on January 4 by Judge William Bondy when he failed to appear to answer charges of operating an illicit still, appeared in court yesterday and was released in bail of $1,000, set by Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter. Lonello was indicted with four other men in December for allegedly conspiring to operate an illicit 850-gallon still on the farm of Henry Schongut in Hurleyville. Mr. Schongut, Lawrence Carli, Jack Jacobs and Louis Remba are the other defendants. A date for trial will be set shortly.

Japan to Attack Singapore if U. S. Should Enter War

Rome, Oct. 3 (AP)—Premier Mussolini's newspaper Il Popolo D'Italia said today that Japan is preparing to attack Singapore, Britain's great far eastern fortress, in the event that Britain obstructs Japan's policy in the Orient or the United States enters the war.

Mario Appellus, the paper's leading commentator, calling Singapore "the pivot of British positions in East Asia, declared: 'Japan is seeking to place itself in the best possible position strategically against Singapore in anticipation of being forced by English hostility or the intervention of new allies of England to attack and throw down the pillar of the empire.'"

Appellus warned the United States that it would face the combined forces of the German, Italian and Japanese empires of 20,000,000 soldiers, 2,000,000 tons of warships and from 25,000 to 30,000 airplanes, as well as their "unbeatable strategic position."

"Spain and Russia, informed in a special manner of this resolution of the Axis," he wrote, "have made it known that they recognize as just the will of the Axis to prevent greater enlargements of the conflict."

Creating Things by Hand Brings Mental Relief

Mental peace through manual work—that is the kind of a workshop institute, located in Radio City, called the Universal School of Handicrafts, it is directed by Edward T. Hall, a gray-haired man.

Into this shop comes the banker who fashions handmade cocktail shakers; an executive who weaves the cloth for his own suits; a society lady who fabricates pewter tableware and another who carves artistic buttons—all because they believe that nerves, boredom, and loneliness can be helped by the satisfaction of creating things with their hands.

A frustrated college girl returned to normal after a course in clay modeling, while many adjustments have been made with people over 70. All walks of life are represented in this school, such as blind people, rich lifeless widows, deaf-mutes, refugees, cripples and tired business men and executives.

Predicts Dry Spell

A prediction that the United States is in for a long dry spell has been made by Dr. Halbert P. Gillette, member of the American Geophysical Union.

Having studied ancient and existing lakes and rock strata, he evolved from them the theory that there are at least three major weather cycles. His findings have been checked with the best available modern data of Nile floods and American weather reports.

His conclusion is that three cycles are working together to bring a long period of droughts, probably reaching maximum intensity about 1960—but that subnormal precipitation is apt to continue for another 50 years.

Dr. Gillette suggests that as one practical application of his findings the United States should prepare for continued migration from its dust bowls.

Youth Needs Training

School systems are operating under an outmoded and antiquated theory of preparing youth for vocations, Dr. Edwin A. Lee, director of the National Occupational conference, told a congress of Northwest educational administrators, recently.

He told his hearers that the present system for education provides training for about 40 different occupations, but that the problem of the school today is to prepare youth for a greater variety of occupations. A dictionary of jobs, he declared, published by the federal government, lists about 18,000 possible means of occupation.

Most business men know what is the matter with them without going to a doctor, but few of them are in a position to do anything about it. They have, in the modern vernacular, a bear by the tail. They can't let go. They must go on.

San Antonio 'American Venice' San Antonio, Texas, city of light and imagination, of beauty and ugliness, old and new—saunters, smiles and ultimately arrives, like her clear little river, winding under 42 bridges to give her the name of "the American Venice." The river is being "beautified" these days, with Venetian bridges, curving stairways, flagstone paths, tropical plants and a small open-air theater with the seats on one side of the stream and the stage on the other.

Barrage Halts London Traffic

City of Benares has illustrated the dangers to which passenger vessels are exposed even when in convoy under the weather conditions now prevailing in the Atlantic, the announcement said, "and the government have come reluctantly to the conclusion that during the winter season of gales and heavy seas they cannot take the responsibility of sending children overseas under the government scheme."

Approximately 2,650 children have departed, most of them to Canada.

Shrapnel Bombs Used Last night for the first time, the use by a German raider of shrapnel bombs was reported in a town in southeast England.

In the same general area, several incendiary bombs burst over a famous boys' school early today, starting a roof fire which was extinguished quickly.

(Eton and Harrow are in southeastern England. Eton is in the vicinity of Windsor Castle, one of the king's homes.)

Other parts of England and Scotland also were subjected to the steady bombing of the bombers, which were supported for a time by big German guns on the French coast shelling the Dover area.

Incendiary bombs were dropped in two places in Scotland, the air ministry reported, but little damage was caused, while high explosive bombs dropped there damaged a building and caused a "small number" of casualties.

The British said 11 German planes were shot down yesterday and last night while one British ship was reported lost.

Mrs. Simmons Hurt

Mrs. Irene Simmons, a negress of 246 Catherine street, suffered an injured knee when struck by a car driven by John J. Johnston of 102 Clinton avenue about 5 o'clock Wednesday evening. Mr. Johnston in reporting the accident said he had conveyed the woman to a physician's office for treatment.

To Hold Clinic

The pre-natal clinic will be held at the Benedictine Hospital Friday afternoon from 1 to 2 o'clock. Expectant mothers who attend this clinic will receive medical attention and advice.

Combined Meeting

There will be a combined meeting of the Fellowship and Missionary societies on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Huthstetter, J. A. Duryea of the Oriental Missionary Society will be the guest.

N.Y.A. Youths Get Jobs in District

Replacement Is Reported High in This Locality

Thirty-eight National Youth Administration workers, or approximately 4 per cent of the NYA youth in the upper Hudson valley district, which includes Albany, secured employment during August, according to statistics released today by George W. Watson, district director.

Mr. Watson revealed that 31 of the 38 youths received private employment, while the remaining seven obtained public employment on normal or emergency programs.

Twenty of the 30 youths secured permanent jobs, while nine others received temporary work in seasonal occupations, such as agriculture, tourist trade, etc.

This seasonal work accounts for the comparatively large number in Ulster county who received employment.

Following is the number who found employment by counties:

Ulster 11, Albany nine, Rensselaer seven, Schenectady four, Montgomery three, Columbia and Greene two each.

During the past month the district statistics show that 56 youths were initially assigned to NYA work projects.

Following are the number assigned by counties:

Albany 23, Montgomery 14, Columbia six, Schenectady three, Schoharie three, Ulster three, Rensselaer two and Greene two.

In the entire state 493 NYA youths found employment during August. Sixty-four received jobs as factory workers, 33 as farm laborers, 77 as other laborers and 23 as domestic workers.

The salaries of a majority of the youths ranged from $10 to $20 per week. Jobs were obtained usually by personal application, as 284 youths received employment in this manner. Fifty-three others were able to gain work by means of friends or relatives.

Three Boys to Get Licking for Parts in Egg-Throwing

Willkie's Visit Brings Court Aftermath in Pontiac; Students to Hear Essays

Pontiac, Mich., Oct. 3 (AP)—Three of five boys accused of throwing eggs at the campaign caravan of Wendell L. Willkie pleaded guilty in juvenile court today and were sentenced to receive a "good, old-fashioned whipping."

In addition, each boy was ordered by Judge Arthur Moore to write a complete statement of his attitude towards the episode, the statements to be read before the students of Pontiac High School.

Each boy admitted in court throwing one egg, but no effort was made to learn which egg struck the car of the Republican presidential nominee and splattered Mrs. Willkie's dress.

Judge Moore gave the parents of the youths the chance to administer the whippings, but also offered the punishment inflicted by juvenile authorities. Each parent elected to whip the youths at home.

Of the youths who pleaded guilty today, two are 16 years old and one is 15.

One Pleads Innocent One other of the group of five accused of creating the trouble pleaded innocent and a hearing was ordered. The fifth case was handled in municipal court.

Robert B. French, superintendent of Pontiac schools, said today that Edmund Van Dusen, 14, for whom Wendell L. Willkie asked leniency in a telegram last night, took no part in disorders that marred the Republican presidential nominee's visit here Tuesday.

Willkie had been erroneously informed that the boy was expelled from school. French said no disciplinary action had been taken against young Van Dusen whose only action was to wave a home-made Roosevelt banner which was quickly taken from him.

Five youths were detained for a disturbance in which eggs were thrown at the Willkie car. The oldest, 17-year-old Bruce Bragan, pleaded guilty in municipal court yesterday to creating a disturbance and was released pending sentence Oct. 14. Four others, held overnight awaited appearance in court today.

The 17th annual convention of the Tennessee Farm Bureau Federation is scheduled to be held in Nashville November 13, 14 and 15.

Time to Store Summer Clothes

Convenient Way to Prepare Wardrobe for Storage

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 3—Some homemakers find that the task of getting summer garments ready for winter storage is made easier if all the clean summer clothes are put in a chest or trunk to be sorted and cared for later in leisure moments.

If a trunk or chest is not available, a substitute may be made from a wooden box, preferably low enough to be slipped under a bed when not in use. If the box is mounted on casters, a couple of handles put on it, and the top fastened to the lower part with hinges, it will be easy to handle. To make the box attractive, it may be covered with chintz or colored cloth, says the New York state college of home economics.

Rainy days in late fall are usually convenient days to remodel old garments or to dye them, to make new clothes from old, or to mend clothes.

Instead of trying to mend children's stockings that have holes at the knee, it may be better to make them over into socks for a smaller child, to be worn next summer, the college says. To do this, cut off the top of the stocking just below the knee and turn the stocking leg down; fold it over several times to make a cuff of double thickness, and stitch around the cuff each time. Make sure to pull the material slightly to allow for stretching when the sock is put on.

As the various garments are made ready to wear again next summer, they may be packed in boxes and the boxes labeled and stored.

Parent-Teacher Ass'n

State Congress

The New York State Congress of Parents and Teachers will open its 44th annual convention at the TenEyck Hotel, Albany, next Monday evening, October 7, and continue through Thursday evening.

The entire week is Parent-Teacher Week in the State, by proclamation of Governor Lehman. The three-day program will cover a variety of topics under the general theme, "Education for Human Relationships," which, according to the report of the Educational Policies Commission, is one of the purposes of education in American democracy.

Dr. Katherine Whiteside Taylor, of the school of citizenship, Syracuse University, will speak Tuesday afternoon on "Human Relationships in the Home." A panel discussion on the same subject will follow, led by Dr. Ruth Andrus, chief, Bureau of Child Development and Parent Education, New York State Education Department.

Panel members include Dr. Allen Hicks, New York State College for Teachers, Albany; Dr. May E. Peabody and Dr. William Young, New York State Department of Education; Marion Loew, M. D., New York State Department of Health; Mrs. Ellsworth M. Wilson, of Snyder, state chairman of education, and Arthur G. Pellens of Albany.

A symposium on "Youth Wednesday morning session, will be led by Mrs. Paul Whitney, Dean of Girls, Eastwood High School, Syracuse.

Wednesday afternoon, which is designated as "play-day," Mrs. Herbert H. Lehman will receive the delegates at a tea at the Executive Mansion.

Election of four vice presidents and a treasurer for the New York State Congress will be held at noon Thursday. Installation of officers will take place after the presidents' dinner, Thursday evening.

The nominees, as announced by Mrs. Clifford N. Jenkins, chairman of the nominating committee, are: For first vice president, Mrs. James H. Freer, Jr., of New Hartford; for fourth vice president, Mrs. Charles L. Chapman of Niagara Falls; for fifth vice president, Mrs. Philip Reimherr, of North Troy; for sixth vice president, Mrs. George S. Nichols, of Highland Falls; for treasurer, Mrs. Thomas Harris of Snyder.

Plenty of Mushrooms

Berlin (P) — Germany's wild mushroom, "the meat of the forests," is described by the press as unusually good this year. The yield of poisonous varieties was low. The fact no mushroom deaths had been reported was attributed to popular interest in mushroom identification. A course provided by a botanical museum attracts several hundred persons.

Dr. Dafoe Will Address Newsmen

Man Who Brought Quints Into World to Speak

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 3—Dr. Allan Dafoe, the country doctor who brought the Quintuplets into the world, has accepted an invitation to speak at Cornell's Newspaper Institute for weekly editors and publishers, October 4 and 5.

He will come from Callander, Ontario, Canada, to be present at the dinner on Friday evening, October 4. Dr. Dafoe's acceptance came about as a result of the efforts of the Newspaper Institute, the Tompkins County Medical Association, and the New York Press Association.

On a recent good-will tour of Ontario, Canada, recent American publishers from five states met Dr. Dafoe and found him the simple country doctor that press comment has shown him to be. He takes little credit for saving the Quints, and says "I had only a bit to do with it."

He told the editors that the five children are being educated with the same psychology as the children of the Royal Family. That is, they must face the fact that they are something unusual and will be stared at by the curious everywhere. He explained that a million-and-a-half persons have seen the Quints, but through a screen of polarized glass which makes the spectators invisible to the children on the playground. He said that quintuplets occur only once in 57,000,000 births.

At the Cornell meeting, Dr. Dafoe will tell about his experiences with the most widely publicized children in the world. Under the Dionne Quintuplet Guardianship, he has been charged with their welfare ever since that May morning, six years ago, when the news was flashed to the world that five babies had been born to a family named Dionne in the wilderness of northern Canada.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Kidneys may need help the same as bowels, so ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

The American Newspaper ALL THE NEWS

DEMOCRACY'S FIRST LINE OF DEFENSE

This newspaper prints the local news. It could not exist if a dictator had the right to censor its columns. It gives you facts, the truth. There are thousands of community newspapers like it in these United States.

If the millions of readers of these newspapers didn't know what is going on, they couldn't form sound opinions... Now are you beginning to realize why The American Newspaper is Democracy's First Line of Defense?

The United States has something precious in these thousands of community newspapers. Be alert against fifth columnists or misguided persons who would rob YOU of this Free Press. If you don't think this is important, remember that the first act of the dictators of Europe in moving toward war was to black out the newspapers of every community.

You have a right to truthful information, discussion of opinions and exchange of ideas. Community interest in affairs, local as well as national, is an effective weapon against war hysteria.

Uncensored expression of opinion through a Free Press is a foundation of Liberty. You need the truth to keep you free.

The funeral of Miss Kathryn A. Heiser was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late home, No. 213 Abel street, and was very largely attended by many relatives and friends. The Rev. Russell S. Gaenzle, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, officiated at the services. Two solos by Miss Marion Albrecht, assisted at the piano by Mrs. W. H. Lieske, were sung during the services. The first, "Asleep in Jesus," followed the reading of the scripture by Pastor Gaenzle, and the second, "Saved by Grace," brought the services to a close. Many beautiful floral pieces sent by relatives and friends, and friends were banded about her casket in the home. The casket bearers were Charles, Frank and George D. Schick, Archie Ronk, James Steigewald, and John Gullnick, Sr. The burial was made in the family plot in Montrose cemetery where the Rev. Mr. Gaenzle read the committal service at the grave.

Airport Measure May Halt Recess

Senate Is Due to Pass Appropriations Bill With Vote Today

Washington, Oct. 3 (AP).—A $1,482,000,000 military appropriations bill, last major defense measure pending before Congress, was passed today by the Senate.

Airport Bill on Way
Washington, Oct. 3 (AP).—The last big defense appropriation bill of the session was expected to slide through the Senate without difficulty today, but disagreement over a preparedness airport construction program put a new stumbling block on the road to recess.

Senate leaders saw quick approval for the House-approved $1,482,693,636 defense fund measure, which is to finance the peacetime conscription program and the concurrent expansion of the standing army.

The outlook was quite different, however, for a $200,000,000 war department civil functions bill, which, when passed by the House, contains an $80,000,000 item for the start of work on 4,000 new airports. A brewing fight on the airport building program threatened to delay Senate action on this legislation. Recess plans, accordingly, were up in the air.

The threat of trouble over the $200,000,000 war department civil functions bill arose after elimination provisions already voted by the House.

The appropriations committee cut out this item when it approved the measure yesterday, but Senator Adams (D-Colo.) said he would not be surprised if administration sentiment developed for its return to the bill. The proposed expenditure—$300,000,000 in cash and $50,000,000 in contract authority—would be made under direction of the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

Unemployment Insurance
Referees to Be Named
Albany, Oct. 3.—An examination for the position of unemployment insurance referee in the Division of Placement and Unemployment Insurance, State Department of Labor, has been announced for November 16 by the Department of Civil Service. Applications for admission to this examination must be filed at Albany by October 11.

This examination is to be on a purely competitive basis and is open to all who can qualify under the conditions as stated in the announcement, copies of which can be obtained by addressing the Civil Service Department.

Except for services within Albany county, certifications from the list of eligibles established as a result of the examination will be made as far as possible by judicial district or districts. For this reason, it is desired that applications for entrance to the examination be made from all sections of the state—although place of residence has no bearing on considerations as to eligibility to take the required examination.

Unemployment insurance referees conduct hearings to determine the validity of disputed claims for benefits, eligibility for benefits and employers' liability under the unemployment insurance law. The salary range is from $3,500 to $4,375, with appointments usually made at the minimum rate.

Reducing Traffic Deaths
"Cleveland, Ohio, broadcasting—tune in New York, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle, and all other cities. We'll show you how this city cut traffic deaths from 248 to 130 in one year, thus being designated as the safest big city by the National Safety council for 1938 and 1939.

"A committee of 1,000,000 was appointed by the mayor, with the police department doing most of the ballyhoo that attracted the attention of everyone and cut the fatalities nearly a half. The city was plastered with streamers of various slogans obtained in a city-wide slogan contest. Storekeepers contributed their windows; outdoor advertising company donated full-sized billboards; beer companies urged temperance for drivers; the city added 250 billboards of its own and erected death speedometers.

Radios were used, parades were held, doctors and nurses were interviewed and accident victims pictured the graphic moments before a collision, over the air.

And practically over night, Cleveland became safety-conscious and the campaign to lead safety to the city was well on its road to success.

Smoking 'Evils' Discussed
There is no unanimity among doctors on the subject of tobacco, a feature recently disclosed. Where once doctors declared that smoking was injurious and would stunt a child's growth, pediatricians today say that it is a highly controversial subject.

A great majority of doctors agree that the youngster who smokes will grow just as tall as nature intended him to grow, tobacco or no tobacco. Most physicians agree that there is nothing beneficial about it, but moderate use, they say, will not harm a young person to the extent the moralists once preached.

Now in the Army
Melbourne, Australia.—Private R. L. Scott is probably the most determined volunteer to join any army in this war. Scott is only 5 ft. 4 1/2 inches in height. He lost both his parents in the last war. He made 13 attempts to join the Australian army but on each occasion was rejected. He returned the 14th time and was accepted and drafted to a Field Workshops Company.

Indian Tribe Comes From Long Forgotten Colony

More than 10,000 people of racial mystery, ancestral roots lost in the scant history of the very first phase of the white man's conquest of America, live in and around the little North Carolina town of Pembroke.

Indians they are, says North Carolina law and the federal government. A large part Indian they most certainly are, as their appearance, habits and manner prove.

But the fact that since pre-Revolutionary days many have had curly hair—sometimes red or blond—and the fact their dialect, as first recorded by early colonists, contained many Anglo-Saxon words, is also proof they are not of pure Indian blood.

Perhaps the most interesting of all the clues as to their racial identity is provided by names, as they appeared on the first colonial records and are still borne by members of the tribe today.

The names Henry Berry, John Sampson and a score of others were to be found on the roster of Sir Walter Raleigh's "Lost Colony," the fate of which for more than 350 years has been unknown. These names are to be found among Indians of this section, and have been since before the Revolution.

The single clue to their fate left by members of the "Lost Colony," who built the first English settlement in America on Roanoke island, was the word "Croatan," carved on a tree. The Indians of this section were called "Croatan" for years. They were proud of the name and boasted of their white as well as Indian ancestors. Their traditions included stories of the forebears who could "talk in a book."

But today these people don't like the term "Croatan," some preferring to be known as the "Cherokee Indians of Robeson county," while others call themselves "Siouans."

The tribe's aversion to the name Croatan is the result of reports made to Washington that the blood of runaway Negro slaves also was to be found in some families of the race.

Electrical Equipment
Raises Living Standard
The electrical industry has done a great deal towards increasing the standard of living.

Its first entrance into the American home was as a means of giving more light. Since those early days it has, step by step, eliminated entirely or in part virtually all the innumerable drudging tasks which had to do with what is known as "housekeeping."

It not only accomplishes these things with greater efficiency and speed, but actually at less cost.

Year after year these varied electrical appliances become more efficient, lower in price, cheaper to operate; and added to all this, the price of electric current has also consistently decreased.

This means cooking meals on an electric range with attendant cleanliness, speed, and cool comfort; cooling and preserving food with all the comfort and economy of a modern electric refrigerator; and laundry washed and ironed with the ease an electric washer and ironer make possible, while the electric cleaner takes care of rugs and carpets in a fraction of the time and without the back-breaking labor of the old-fashioned broom or sweeper and all the time you have a high intensity of glare-free light, perfectly diffused through the use of new and improved bulbs, lamps and fixtures.

'Galakers' of Carolina Do Christmas Chopping Early

By The AP Feature Service
Banner Elk, N. C.—To a vast, scattered army of North Carolina "galakers," Christmas is in the air.

"Galaking" is the business of collecting decorative greens, the term being derived from galax leaves. Right now the market is bullish.

Thousands of North Carolinians make all or part of their living harvesting leaves, tips, roots and herbs in the prolific Appalachian region.

"Galaking" is a year-round occupation because the leathery, durable galax and laucothoe leaves and other greens are used constantly by florists and decorators. At Christmas the demand widens to include balsam, spruce pines and laurel twigs.

Whole families move into the forests for the harvest. Hundreds of buyers purchase the material direct and ship to contract dealers.

In recent years, dozens of little backwoods shops have sprung up. Evergreens are transformed into wreaths, trees are trimmed and packed, and thousands of yards of decorative rope are turned out of spruce, pine, laurel and hemlock. Many of the processors contract to make street decorations for whole cities.

Hand-Woven
Indian Rug You Will Enjoy Making

Many Gay Rugs in New Booklet

A jolly colorful Navaho rug to brighten a boy's room and gladden his heart—or to add a gay note to your living room!

Weave it easily from black and red cotton cloth and parcel-post string—on a simple wooden loom you can make at home.

Sew together 2-inch strips of wood to make a rectangular frame a little larger than 21½ by 28 inches—the size of the completed rug with fringe. On shorter sides drive in small wire nails about ¼ inch apart. Now you're ready to wrap and weave.

When using string for the warp dye it black or you may prefer black candlewick yarn. Fabric for weaving should be cut in long strips ¾ inch wide.

To warp, wind string around the nails as shown in our diagram and carry back and forth across loom. Fasten securely and then with fingers or a tapestry needle weave fabric over and under warp threads—as in darning.

Morgan Orchestra To Play October 11 At K. of C. Ball

Past Grand Knight Joseph Murphy, chairman of the music committee for the Knights of Columbus Charity Ball announced today that Russ Morgan, "Music in the Morgan Manner", and his orchestra will play at this year's Ball which will take place on October 11, the eve of Columbus Day.

Morgan completes his engagement at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York on the evening of October 8. After the Knights of Columbus Ball he has several engagements at college dances at Ithaca.

Morgan has played many outstanding engagements throughout his lengthy career. Among the best known locations where he has appeared, besides the Hotel Pennsylvania, are the Biltmore Hotel, New York; Rice Hotel, Houston; Claridge Hotel, Memphis; Chez Paree, Chicago; Roosevelt Hotel, New Orleans—as well as many others from coast to coast.

"Music in the Morgan Manner" has been featured on several radio commercials. He has had countless sustaining spots over all three major networks, and while at the Pennsylvania in New York he broadcast over both the Red and Blue networks of NBC.

Russ has made several movie shorts for Paramount and Warner Brothers and his records are among the best sellers.

Featured with Russ Morgan and his Orchestra are three outstanding vocalists, the Carol Kay, Jimmy Lewis and Paul Roberts.

Morgan is one of this country's most versatile and accomplished musicians. He is among the world's greatest trombone soloists, a composer of many hits and a master of the piano, vibraphone, saxophone, guitar, celeste and marimba. In addition, he has an exceptional baritone voice. To round out his musical knowledge Morgan is now studying the organ, harp and various other string instruments. His musical background includes arranging for John Philip Sousa and Victor Herbert at the age of 20.

With music and a maestro of such quality General Chairman William Leehive and Chairman Joseph Murphy feel confident that the ball will be an unprecedented success.

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, Oct. 3.—Many of the students of the Kingston High School are at present knitting scarves for the "Bundles for Britain" consignments. Materials have been apportioned and the girls are undertaking the work with great enthusiasm.

The recent cold weather has caused quite an epidemic of colds and laryngitis throughout Woodstock.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, Oct. 3.—The base is in for the west pier of the new bridge across the Wallkill river at New Paltz and work is now progressing at a fast rate under the direction of Contractor McKenna. The pier footing delayed the work for some months workmen found that the spot chosen for the footing was in quicksand and it took a lot of extra work building a large coffer dam to hold back the waters while digging was going on to reach the solid earth.

Miss Helen Bruns visited her mother, Mrs. Etta Bruns, at Clintondale on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gaffney Sr. visited Mrs. Thomas Gaffney and her son, at St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, on Sunday.

Slip Brings Career
Accidentally spilling a glass of water on his hostess brought Angelo Bisenz fame and fortune at an industrial designer in New York city. He noticed that the glass and many other articles which we handle in our daily lives were not designed to fit our hands.

Bisenz changed all this by what he calls "formagenic design." He has designed door-knobs which can be opened with soapy hands, glasses with a non-slipable groove, a safety razor that is easily gripped with the fingers and many other household utensils.

He says that his idea of "formagenic design" is just the adaptation of utensils to the human body and its requirements. He could go right through a house, he says, and really modernize it formagenically.

Some states have gone in debt so heavily in building expensive roads that their outstanding highway bonds are equivalent to a mortgage two or three times the value of all the cars in the state.

Republican Rally, Barbecue Planned

Orange County Event to Be Held at Middletown

Plans have been completed for the Republican Rally and barbecue to be held at the Fair Grounds in Middletown on Sunday, October 6, featuring a complete round of events beginning with a barbecue at 1 o'clock and followed by an important speech by United States Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire at 3 o'clock. Senator Bridges a presidential candidate at the time of the Republican convention is a very convincing speaker and it is expected that he will attract a crowd of more than 5,000 persons.

This event is being sponsored by the Young Men's Republican Club of Middletown and virtually every Republican Organization in Orange County. Every effort is being made to make this "Willkie Day" the high light of the campaign activities between now and election day for the entire Hudson Valley.

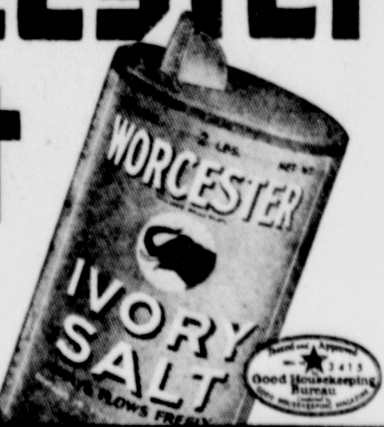

Tickets have been placed on sale for the barbecue at Rogers Drug Store, Middletown, and they also may be obtained from members of the committee. Mass meeting and speech by Senator Bridges beginning at 3 o'clock is free.

Series Sidelights
At Crosley Field

York Hopes to Hit Homer
Into York Street

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 3 (AP)—World "serious" sidelights!

If you think the Cincinnati Reds aren't in a serious predicament, just take a look at the record. (In case you didn't know, the Reds lost the series opener yesterday to Detroit, 7 to 2).

Well, to delve into history a bit, the club that won the opening game of 36 previous series went onto to take the title 25 times, which definitely puts the Reds on the short end. And should they lose today they're practically out of it, for teams losing the first two contests have been beaten out in 17 of 18 years. Only the Yanks of 1921 annexed the first two games and then lost the series. Teams winning the first three have copped the series 10 times and lost none, so the national loop champs had better get going today or they're likely to run into another of those massacres as they suffered last year against the Yanks.

While Manager Bill McKechnie coaches at third base for the Reds, the long, lean lankey lad in the first base box is Harry (Hank) Gowdy of Columbus, hero of the most sensational series ever played. Hank was catcher for the Boston Braves back in 1914 when that club, in last place on July 19, won 60 of the last 76 games to take the flag by 10½ contests. Hank caught all four games of the World Series, beating the Philadelphia Athletics four straight in one of the sport's greatest upsets. And Hank, who a few years later became the first leaguer to enlist in the World War, batted a homer in the ninth inning of the third game to swing victory to the Braves.

Just over the left field wall at Crosley Field is a thoroughfare named "York" street. And Rudy York, the Tiger slugger, is hoping to blast one out there before the series ends, for a "York to York" homer.

The limited 33,000 seating capacity of the local ball yard is expected to slash quite a bit into the "cut" of the players. The play-ers' pool for the first game was $75,040.80, a far cry from the $117,010.91 derived from last year's opener at New York. The experts have it figured that the winners will get about $5,500 each this year, with each loser taking down $4,200, more or less.

Jim Farley can't seem to get politics off his mind, even with the big series on. Bob Jones, the "grand slam" golf king, introduced Farley to Horton Smith top-notch pro golfer, and Smith was wearing a Wilkie button.

Farley, former national Democratic chairman, eyed the G. O. P. candidate's button on Horton's lapel, and asked: "Well, how's the campaign going?"

PUNTS AND PASSES

(By The Associated Press)
Stillwater, Okla.—The Look-abaughs took all the honors in the Oklahoma Aggie opener. Head Coach Jim Lookabaugh's team won the game, while Frank Look-abaugh, freshman guard, topped all the program vendors in sales. Frank is Jim's third cousin.

Milwaukee, Wis.—Jimmy Briggs of Gary, Marquette reserve center, is Wisconsin's eating-peas-off-a-knife champion. The husky foot-baller says he has better table manners, but just wanted to prove his versatility in a contest conducted by the Wisconsin Cannery Association.

Syracuse—Sal (Toots) Mirabito, Syracuse sophomore, started his varsity grid career with a bang. He scored a touchdown on the first play, racing 26 yards against Clarkson.

Lawrence, Kan.—They're claiming all-America drop-kicking honors for Chester (Wheelbase) Gibbens at Kansas. He has tried 11 conversions via the dropkick and missed only one in two years of varsity competition.

Lexington, Ky.—Joe Shepherd, 1939 Kentucky football captain, didn't make a touchdown until his senior year, when he intercepted a pass and beat Vanderbilt with a 70-yard run. This year, his old number is worn by Bob Herbert, who made a 70-yard (give or take a few yards) run in his first varsity game.

BIG FIVE-RUN SECOND INNING WINS FOR DEROIT

This picture of the first world series game of 1940 between the Tigers and Reds at Crosley Field, Cincinnati, was made during the first half of the second inning—the Tigers big inning, during which they knocked Paul Derringer out of the box, scored five runs and put the game on ice. The final score was 7 to 2. Greenberg, who had been held to a single on a long clout, is just starting away from first base on York's single to right center—the start of the rally which sent Derringer, shown on the mound, to the showers.

In Opening Game of Series;
McKechnie Still Has Hopes

Redlegs Fail to Impress
Experts in Fielding and Hitting; Newsom Is Winning Hurler

Cincinnati, Oct. 3 (AP)—It looked again today like the National League had over-matched itself as the Cincinnati Reds reeled under the impact of an opening 7 to 2 defeat by the Detroit Tigers and sought desperately to come back.

Again it looked like boys had been sent out to tackle grown men. Today's game at Crosley Field was only the second of the big series that decides the championship, yet the experts, a majority of whom picked Cincinnati to win, already were shaking their heads.

The one hope of the Reds to avert a rout probably as disastrous as that they suffered a year ago at the mauling bats of the New York Yankees rested today in the cool pitching head of Bucky Walters.

If Walters could stop the Tigers and square the series before the two clubs switched to Detroit for the next three battles starting tomorrow, then there might be a chance for the locals. But the Reds looked bad in every way yesterday as the Tigers blasted Paul Derringer from the hill with a five-run assault in the second inning and then went onto win as they pleased.

It was obvious that Manager Bill McKechnie's boys had nothing resembling a batting punch as Bobo Newsom mowed them down. And it was equally plain that the Reds were tightened up at the snapping point in the field.

Walters' opponent today was the Tigers' towering Schoolboy Rowe, who made a sensational comeback the past season after a trip back to the minors with a lame arm. Rested and primed for what figured to be his one big effort of the series, Rowe promised to be fully as effective as Newsom was yesterday.

McKechnie refused to give up, naturally, but Bill must be beginning to wonder if he's lived a proper life. Yesterday was the ninth straight World Series defeat suffered by clubs under his management. The Yankees trounced his 1928 Cardinals four straight and served his Reds the same bitter dish last autumn. And now the Tigers have taken up where the Yankees left off.

Reds Are Crippled
The Reds still were sadly crippled, with Catcher Ernie Lombardi and Second Baseman Lonnie Frey on the bench, and it looked increasingly doubtful that either could get into the play-off at all. But there was no real reason to believe that their absence seriously influenced yesterday's one-sided result.

Eddie Joost, Frey's replacement, made two of the Reds' eight blows off Newsom and didn't bungle a chance afield. Veteran Jimmy Wilson caught well enough, too, though his batting naturally was weaker than might reasonably have been expected of Lombardi.

Shortstop Billy Myers got a long running start toward being the goat of the play-off when twice in that terrible second inning he failed to make snap throws that would have retired Hank Greenberg and possibly have enabled Derringer to pull out of the hole and settle down. Both times Myers appeared to freeze. He looked like he wanted to throw the worst way, but simply couldn't.

But the Tigers' margin of superiority was even greater than that. They proved they could knock the cover off good pitching. Derringer had his stuff, but no one could have guessed it when Greenberg, York, Higgins, McCosky and Bartell began whaling away at him in the second. Big Paul had retired only one man and five runs were across before Whitey Moore could come to the rescue.

Incidentally, to show the amazing confidence of the Reds before they felt Detroit's power, there wasn't even a pitcher in their bullpen when Derringer began getting his lumps, and Moore literally ran

Moore Hurls Well

Moore pitched a fine stretch of ball from the time he relieved Derringer until he retired for a pinch hitter in the eighth. His fast ball was whistling and he struck out seven Tigers, among other things. Yet he had one short lapse in the fifth, and it illustrated forcibly the sudden, savage power in the Detroit bats.

Wham! York smashed almost a line drive against the right field screen. Moore took a deep breath and threw again. Socko! Bruce Campbell lofted it high and far away into the right centerfield bleachers. The two blows took more out of the capacity crowd of more than 32,000 than had the second-inning outburst, for they made it cruelly obvious that the American League still packed a knock-out punch.

Ival Goodman saved the Reds from a shut-out. He doubled off Newsom in the fourth and scored on Jim Jippie's hit, and in the eighth his line single brought in Bill Werber, who had doubled. Barney McCoskey of Detroit made the day's fielding gem in the first inning, when he jumped high against the center field fence to haul down a furious smack by Frank McCormick.

Billy Southworth, who replaced Ray Blades as manager of the Cardinals in June, was given a contract for 1941, as well as for the remainder of this season, it was revealed by President Sam Breadon. "Coming in as he did, Southworth was entitled to another year's contract right away," declared Breadon.

Collapse of Inner Defense
Took Spark Out of
National League
Champions

Cincinnati, Oct. 3 (AP)—The funny thing about it is that the Cincinnati Reds, in their worst dumps of the past season, never played a ball game quite so far off the norm.

Joe Cincinnati knows, and he said so on a hundred street corners last night, that the Reds are a better team than the one that lost yesterday's game to the Tigers.

He said so quietly and with deep conviction. He was counting on a big celebration and all the celebrating was done in Detroit so all Joe had left was his convictions. But all season Bill Werber never threw a ball like the one that pulled Eddie Joost off first base. It wasn't a wild throw and Bill hadn't muffed the ball, but his pitch was just one of those things that doesn't come from a man like Werber. He's better than that.

Likewise Billy Myers' muff of Whitey Moore's toss to catch a man off second. Billy has made his errors, all right, but being there with a glue-lined glove when the runner gets adventurous is elemental and Billy has done it successfully a dozen times.

Of what happened to Paul Derringer, Joe has the word of Manager Bill McKechnie and Catcher Jimmy Wilson, that Paul was throwing his Sunday pitches. He will take that assurance, yet wonder why the Tiger sluggers had more luck than the New York Yankees last year against exactly the same assortment of Sunday pitches.

The only real consolation for Joe Cincinnati is that Whitey Moore and Elmer Riddle, frankly thrown in there because the ball game was gone, chipped Hank Greenwood and Rudy York down to size almost as if somebody had given the specifications. Rudy's triple and Bruce Campbell's homer were the only really solid hits off Moore and Rudy's blow was on an inside pitch that any other player in the two loops would have let go for a bill.

But, as McKechnie said, today's another day and Joe Cincinnati can throw a celebration on mighty short notice.

Manager Leo Durocher denied a report that he had slapped a $200 fine on his left fielder and pal, Joe Medwick, for his handling of a couple of fielding chances in a recent game at Chicago.

Ben Hogan Leads
For Vardon Cup

Sammy Snead Trails by Seven Points

Boston, Oct. 3 (AP)—The battle for the Harry Vardon trophy, awarded annually to the professional golfer who accumulates the most points in the regularly sponsored professional golfers' association tournaments, probably will continue until the last event of the year, the Miami $10,000 open in December, according to figures released today by the P. G. A. tournament bureau.

Fred Corcoran, bureau manager, said that Ben Hogan, of White Plains, N. Y., winner of four major tournaments this year, had a seven-point lead on Sam Snead, of Shawnee, Pa., in the race for first place.

Hogan also leads the 1940 money winners with $9,655 and Jimmy Demaret, of Houston, Tex., is second on the list with $8,627. Hogan has 380 points in the Vardon trophy competition, against 373 for Snead, 292 for Demaret and Byron Nelson, of Toledo, O., 257 for Dick Metz, of Oak Park, Ill., 256 for Ralph Guldahl, of Chicago, and 252 for Craig Wood, of Winged Foot, N. Y.

When 10 members of the Dodgers voted against traveling to Boston by air for the Labor Day twin-bill, the Brooklyn club chartered only one plane to the Hub, sending a second section by rail.

Syracuse Faces
First Stiff Test

Orangemen Will Play Host to Northwestern

Syracuse's Orangemen are ready to flash their fastest attack Saturday afternoon when Lyn Waldorf and the Northwestern Wildcats meet Ossie Solem's boys. It will be one of the most outstanding intersectional battles of the day.

The manner in which Tommy Maines, Joe Watt, "Bunky" Morris, Leo Canale and Sal Mirabito demolished Clarkson last week by 33 to 0, has given Syracuse supporters hopes against the high-ranking Northwestern invaders.

The most optimistic of Orange followers admit, however, that the Northwestern gridders will have a big edge in manpower and a more experienced group of rugged ball-carriers in Bill deCorrevont, the sensational halfback; Don Casson, Floyd Chamber, Ira Kepner, Ollie Hahnenstein, Paul Soper and Captain Dick Richards.

Homer Rodeheaver, famous Gospel singer who formerly toured with Billy Sunday, attended game in Cincinnati as the guest of Deacon Bill McKechnie, manager of the Reds and a leading baritone of the Wilkinsburg (Pa.) Methodist Church.

Acquisition of two players from Evansville of the Three-I League was announced by the Bees. They are Outfielder Clarence Bray and Don Manno, a first baseman-outfielder.

Chamberlain Quits Due to His Health

undersecretary of state for foreign affairs, but resigned along with Eden in February, 1938.

Viscount Caidcott—Lord chief justice, replacing Lord Hewart, whose resignation is to be effective October 12 and who is to be made a Viscount.

Sir Andrew Duncan—Minister of supply, succeeding Morrison.

Capt. Oliver Lyttelton—President of the board of trade, succeeding Sir Andrew Duncan.

Sir John Reith—Minister of works and public buildings, a new cabinet post. He also was elevated to the peerage as a baron.

Lieut.-Col. J. T. C. Moore-Brabazon—Minister of transport, succeeding Sir John Reith.

Viscount Cranborne, Capt. Lyttelton and Lieut.-Col. Moore-Brabazon were named to the king's privy council.

Sir John Anderson, in succeeding Chamberlain, was moved after widespread press criticism of his air raid shelter policy.

Laborite Morrison, who replaces Sir John, has a reputation as a "livewire" and man of the people.

Position for Bevin

Another move apparently aimed at mollifying the public was the creation of the extra place in the war cabinet for dynamic Labor Minister Bevin, whose star British spy definitely seems on the rise. Many observers already are calling him "England's next prime minister."

Besides Anderson, Bevin and Wood, the other inner cabinet members now are Churchill, Halifax, Beaverbrook, Laborite Clement R. Attlee, lord privy seal; and Arthur Greenwood, minister without portfolio, also a Laborite.

Although the cabinet lost a pillar of conservatism in Chamberlain, the new list shows a strong conservative influence still dominates, thus reflecting the tremendous hold of the Conservative party even with a "party rebel" such as Churchill in power.

In the cabinet shuffle, there are only two new faces—and both are Conservatives. They are Capt. Lyttelton, pretty much of an unknown politically, and Lieut.-Col. Brabazon, a pioneer motorist and aviator.

Resignation of Chamberlain came as no surprise, since he underwent a major operation in July. He still is in need of rest, his friends report, and has been unable to get it in bomb-battered London.

Meeting to Elect Leader

A meeting to elect a new leader of the Conservative party to succeed Chamberlain probably will be called next week.

The British Press Association said that Chamberlain "almost certainly" would resign the conservative party leadership and "in that event the prime minister is expected to become party leader."

Chamberlain, it is understood, may resign his seat in commons, but he has made no decision yet.

Amid the flood of press comment, the liberal Evening Star expressed regret that "energies and experiences so diverse as those of Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Hore-Belisha are still left unused, but we hope opportunities will offer to employ them."

Leslie Hore-Belisha resigned as war secretary in a cabinet shift made by Chamberlain last January. David Lloyd George, World War prime minister, has not been a member of the war government but reports yesterday said he might be brought in in the anticipated shakeup.

The conservative Evening News said that "the absence of new blood is regrettable," further reconstruction will be necessary to transform the government into the ideal instrument for winning the war.

"New men should, indeed must, be thrown up by events,"

Chamberlain's Resignation
Chamberlain's letter of resignation, addressed to Prime Minister Churchill under date of Oct. 1, read:

"My dear Winston:
"When I returned to London six weeks ago after my operation I hoped to be able steadily to increase my capacity for work until I could answer any call you might wish to make upon me.

"Unhappily this hope was not

Women In The News

Politics In The Hair

HERE'S A CAMPAIGN coiffure on the blond head of Debutante Patricia Plunkett. Yep, she's for Roosevelt. That's why her hair style was inspired by the Democratic donkey. The idea is to comb the hair up on the sides to swirl into upstanding donkey ears. The center is brushed smoothly down into turned-under bangs. It's Charles of the Ritz's "For Roosevelt" style.

POLITICAL ENTHUSIASM goes to the head of pretty brunette Olive Cawley. This New York debutante got a political coiffure "after the G.O.P. elephant" to better emphasize her role as a Willkie supporter. The Republican version of headline fashion puts a pompadour in the form of a French roll from crown to forehead. An elephant's trunk is the general effect.

Roosevelt to Give Speech at Dayton

Subject Is Defense, Early Says It's Non-Political

Washington, Oct. 3 (AP)—The White House announced today that President Roosevelt would deliver a national defense speech from a special train at Dayton, Ohio, October 12.

Stephen T. Early, White House press secretary, said the President's address would be "non-political" and would be carried free by three national radio networks. It will start at 9 p. m., eastern standard time.

The address, Early said, will be a review—a "straight narrative story on the defense program of the United States."

It will be one half hour long and will be carried by short wave to the other 20 American nations in the western hemisphere.

Will Discuss Draft

Since the speech will be made only four days before the date for registration for military service, October 16, Mr. Roosevelt will discuss the draft and the reasons for it, Early said.

In substance, Early continued, the speech will follow what the President said this week to the army chiefs of staff of several other American nations when they called on him at the White House. He spoke on a Pan American theme of "one for all and all for one."

Mr. Roosevelt "wants the people of all the nations of the hemisphere to know what we are doing and why," Early said.

Dayton will be the western terminus of a trip the President has planned for late in the week ending October 12. Final arrangements have not been made but the journey is expected to include a tour of Pittsburgh steel plants and possibly the army's aviation facilities at Dayton.

The President has planned to spend the coming week-end at his home at Hyde Park, N. Y. He will leave tomorrow night and return Tuesday morning.

On Saturday he will make a brief talk at a new high school between Hyde Park and Poughkeepsie in dedication of that school and two other nearby grade schools.

through industrial and business sections of Toledo, Ohio, getting mixed boos and cheers in the former and applause in the latter.

Talks at Youngstown, O., and New Castle, Pa., were on his program this morning. A four-hour tour of Pittsburgh was scheduled for the afternoon, followed by a labor speech tonight at Forbes Field in Pittsburgh.

Willkie took a few minutes from his campaign duties yesterday to telegraph school officials at Pontiac, Mich., asking a modified punishment for a boy expelled after an egg was thrown into the candidate's car there Tuesday.

Willkie Worker

Mrs. Eloise Preston Lovatt, Democrat, has been chosen chairman of the Willkie-for-President Club in this city.

Mrs. Lovatt, an avowed foe of New Deal Democrats but still a party member, has announced that she believes Wendell L. Willkie can lead the country back from dangerous liberalism to sound Americanism.

A meeting of the Willkie Club will be held Tuesday evening, October 8, at the Governor Clinton Hotel at 7:30 o'clock.

To Honor Potentate

The Shriners of Cyprus Temple, Albany, will honor their Imperial Potentate George F. Olendorf with a pancake and sausage supper Friday evening followed by a big gala floor show. A beautiful jeweled fez will be awarded to the Shriner who has been a member the greatest number of years.

Many local Shriners are planning on attending.

How One Woman Lost 20 Pounds of Fat

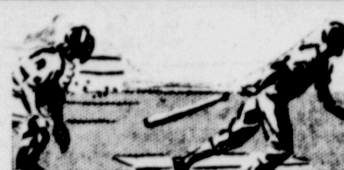

Lost Her Double Chin
Lost Her Prominent Hips
Lost Her Sluggishness

Gained in Attractiveness Gained a Shapely Figure

When your bowels and kidneys fail to perform their work correctly your system cannot throw off the waste material and digestion becomes deranged—you lose energy and activity. Perhaps before you realize it you're losing your appeal and getting objectionably fat.

Take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning; cut out pastry, fatty meats—and go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar. In three weeks get on the scales and see how many pounds of fat have vanished; notice also that you have gained in energy—your skin seems clearer and eyes brighter—you feel younger in body and keener in mind.

Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts—plain or new effervescent—sparkling—pleasant, at United Cut Rate Pharmacy and leading druggists everywhere; lasts 4 weeks and is inexpensive.

Mother Gives Life to Save Son in German Air Raid

LONDON—A young mother gave her life to save her infant son during a German air raid on a southeastern English village.

When rescue workers dug their way into the debris of their house hours after it had been demolished by a bomb, the mother was found crouched over the boy.

She died before reaching a hospital. The boy suffered only slight injuries.

German Women's Hair Used for Army Socks

BERLIN—Hair from the heads of German women is going into socks for Germany's soldiers.

More than 3,960 pounds of hair have been collected and will be turned over to spinning mills where felt socks will be made for Nazi soldiers, it was announced.

Thinks Wife Is Barrel

—Much to His Sorrow
HULL, MASS.—A man who mistook a submerged beer keg for his wife was wishing that the Nantasket beach lifeguards had not bothered to "roll out the barrel."

Because when they did, in response to his cries that his wife was "drowning," she arrived safely from another part of the beach just in time to learn that he had thought the keg was she. Spectators retreated discreetly while she shrilly told him a thing or two.

Motor Mechanic Adept, Though Blind 27 Years

DONORA, Pa.—Clallen McMullen, 53-year-old automobile mechanic, uses his fingers to "see" what is wrong with motors.

For McMullen has been blind ever since 1913, when a lime explosion in a steel plant where he was working as a mechanic cost him his eyesight.

Although he is now an expert automobile mechanic and has a garage of his own in the rear of his home here, McMullen did not learn the mechanism of a car until after he became blind. Even before the patches were removed from his eyes he had purchased a second-hand car and taken it apart. That and his work on neighbors' cars enabled him to gain a detailed knowledge of the workings of automobiles.

"I see just as much as others," McMullen explains, "except that mine are all mental pictures. Instead of my eyes, my fingers convey thoughts to my brain. When I raise a hood to 'look' at an engine, what I hear and feel helps me determine the trouble and I see it as clearly as anyone."

In his spare time McMullen tries to lessen the burdens of other blind persons. He is a member of the state board of the Pennsylvania Federation of the Blind.

Patriotism Is Sweeping U. S.

Broad Upsurge of National Consciousness Spreads Over Nation.

WASHINGTON.—A great wave of patriotism is sweeping the United States. The popularity of "God Bless America" and patriotic jewelry, the outbursts of "anti-fifth column" activity and a thousand other scattered phenomena are part, a survey by the Associated Press indicated, of a general upsurge of national consciousness.

"The Star-Spangled Banner" and "God Bless America" are newly resounding at nearly every public assembly from coast to coast.

Badges, window stickers and auto emblems everywhere are emblazoning mottos like "I Love America," "Vote and Thank God That You Can," "We Are Glad We Are American," and "Our Flag Right or Wrong."

The patriotic wave is running in four conspicuous channels—simple expressions of national loyalty, widespread moves for national defense, newborn vigilance against foreign subversive activities, and a heightened consciousness of the institution of citizenship.

Capacity Demand. Flag makers in New Jersey, Philadelphia, Chicago, the Southwest and on the Pacific coast report almost unanimously unprecedented capacity demand. Homes, business buildings and institutions throughout the land which heretofore displayed the flag only on holidays now are flying it every day.

A Pottsville, Pa., coal miner has its workers salute the flag each day before they go down the shafts.

A Pittsburgh judge wrote a special tribute to the flag and reads it before each court session.

In another Pittsburgh court room, "The Star-Spangled Banner" is played on a phonograph daily.

At the Waynesburg, Pa., county fair the pledge to the flag was recited each day by every person on the grounds.

In Los Angeles courts, the salute to the flag has replaced the traditional legal prolog of "Oyez, oyez."

Meaningful Incidents. The intensity of feeling is evidenced by meaningful incidents all over the country.

In Galveston, Texas, a man who yelled "Hurrah for Hitler!" was fined $200 for starting a disturbance. A Maryland prison guard was discharged for unpatriotic talk.

A Philadelphia laborer who hit a colleague with a shovel for criticizing the United States was upheld by the court.

The new national sentiment appears to be basically a spontaneous, objective expression of "pro-Americanism" rather than inspired international partisanship or organized sentiment on foreign policy.

So far, beyond general tightening of alien regulations, there have been few indications of the "anti-hyphen" sentiment of World war days.

New Jersey passed an anti-foreign uniform law aimed at the German-American band.

But groups of foreign extraction all over the country affirmed their loyalty to the United States as soon as any question arose. Some citizens of German inheritance in Annapolis, Md., put advertisements in the newspapers avowing their patriotism.

Local defense measures, although conspicuously unco-ordinated, have been enthusiastic and widespread.

Private Airline to Train 850 U. S. Cadets to Fly

WASHINGTON.—The war department announced an arrangement with Pan American Airways system whereby that company would train 850 cadets in long-range aerial navigation during the next 14 months.

The first class of about 50 cadets began training today in Miami, Fla., and will be graduated November 2, after an intensive 12-week course.

The department said that Pan American Airways, which maintains a vast network of foreign lines, will furnish the instructors and all training facilities on a non-profit contract basis.

Flag Sales Are Boosted As Patriotism Increases

KANSAS CITY, MO.—Take it from J. A. Tabery, there has been a considerable increase in America's patriotic fervor.

He has sold American flags for many years and always his supply from eastern manufacturers has been sufficient to meet the demand until recently. Now the demand has grown so that Tabery has started making his own flags.

Ring, Lost 32 Years, Plowed Up on Farm

JOHNSTOWN, Pa.—Thirty-two years ago, the late Mrs. Lucy Pearl Miller lost her wedding ring on a farm on Coon ridge, Upper Yoder township.

The band has just been found in ground cultivated for the last three years by Mrs. Frank Mosholder, who plans to send it to Mrs. Miller's husband, Harry, a resident of Empire, Calif.

Seven counties in western New York produce about 20,000 acres of tomatoes, valued at from a million to a million-and-a-half dollars.
